

FEARING BLOODSHED, CALLS OFF "SALE"

NEW YORK, Sept. 20.—Blocked by phalanxes of police reserves in his plans to feed and later "sell" members of New York's jobless army, a "slave auction" last night, Urban Ledoux remained in retirement today.

Fear that further clashes with the police would result in bloodshed and possible loss of life, he said, prompted him to call off all plans contemplating any further assemblage of the unemployed.

"I do not want trouble," said Ledoux. "I am trying to avoid it."

Ledoux called off his proposed auction yesterday afternoon.

Nevertheless several hundred of the unemployed men and thousands of curious spectators were on hand at Bryant park, at 11 p. m., the hour originally set for the auction.

Police reserves struggled with the crowd for more than an hour, wielding nightsticks on recalcitrants before they were able to restore anything resembling order.

Ledoux announced today that he would appear in a few days at a community center at St. Mark's in the Bowery operating barbershop, cobbler shop and clothing repair departments to help the jobless men themselves more presentable in their quest for work.

CHILDREN INJURED IN AUTO ACCIDENTS

Paul Muldoon, aged 6 years and residing at 75 Chapel street, had a narrow escape from serious injuries yesterday when he was struck by an automobile in Gorham street.

The little fellow, so it is claimed, ran into the path of a machine operated by John P. Farmer of Boston road, Billerica, and was struck in such a way that he fell under the car. It is not believed, however, that the wheels of the machine passed over his body. The little fellow was rushed to St. John's hospital where it was found that he was suffering from injuries to his head and legs. An X-ray picture of his injuries was taken and then the boy was allowed to go to his home.

Clarence Hoyt, a boy residing at 16 Belmont street, received an injury to his hip late yesterday afternoon when he was struck by an automobile. The accident occurred in Gorham street while the machine, a parcel post car owned by Uncle Sam and operated by C. F. Lynch, was backing out of a garage. It seems that the Hoyt boy was rolling a hoop and ran into the path of the auto. He was treated at St. John's hospital.

George Desrosiers, aged 7 years and residing at 142 Ennell street, was struck by an automobile at the corner of Central and Middlesex streets yesterday afternoon. The little fellow was taken by the operator of the machine, Rolf Bradbury of North Acton, to St. John's hospital, where it was found that he was not injured.

Bessie Nannels, of 127 Howard street, received slight injuries to her side when she was struck by an automobile yesterday. The accident occurred at the corner of Middlesex and Thorndike streets, the operator of the machine being James C. Ralls of 370 Market street.

Entente Ultimatum to Hungary

VIENNA, Sept. 20.—(By the Associated Press.)—The situation in Burgenland, the strip of territory on the Hungarian border awarded Austria by the treaty of Trianon, is hourly growing more critical, according to the government view here. It was reported tonight that an Entente ultimatum to Hungary, to be delivered Tuesday, says a commercial blockade will be instituted unless the territory is completely evacuated by the Hungarians within 72 hours.

Ledoux Gives Meal Tickets to Jobless

NEW YORK, Sept. 20.—Urban Ledoux, whose attempt to sell the services of the unemployed at auction last night was blocked by the police, today distributed meal tickets to 40 hungry followers and announced he would march to Bryant Park and again try to hold his auction. He also distributed newspapers containing accounts of police activities yesterday, to throngs of jobless men.

She displayed no distress signals, but Captain Robert Ellis of the Monomoy Point coast guard station went to offer his aid. The schooner was loaded and bound west.

VARIETY OF LINES IN EVENING GOWNS

BY MARIAN HALE

NEW YORK, Sept. 19.—The enveloping evening coat offers a variety of lines as well as materials this season. An ultra-evening, light colored effect is achieved in the handsome, glass brocade, pussy willow, satin wrap shown here on the left. It has the bloused back, so popular this year.

A warm, luxurious wrap from E. J. White of Sarrento blue velvet. Its chief note of novelty lies in huge fur cuffs and an immense shawl collar of gray squirrel, reaching to the bottom of the enveloping wrap. Another evening wrap shown here is a Franklin Simon import. It brings vividness and gorgeousness of color.

It is of orange velvet with an unusual back panel of gold-brocaded tulle. This wrap has a deep collar of ostrich, shading from yellow into orange.

EARLY MORNING FIRE

The alarm from box 224 at 12:22 o'clock this morning, was for a blaze in the home of Frank J. Eanto, 8 Cedar court. The fire was caused by a defective chimney and when the firemen reached the premises, the blaze was working its way through the partitions. The fire was put out before any serious damage was caused. As soon as the fire was discovered, Mr. and Mrs. Eanto and their children made a quick exit as the dense smoke was threatening to suffocate them.

ST. RAILWAY WILL ISSUE EIGHT-RIDE TICKET

As an accommodation to patrons of the Eastern Massachusetts Street Railway Co. who find it inconvenient to invest $1 in the reduced rate tickets sold by the company, the public trustees have notified Mayor Perry D. Thompson and John B. Curtin, secretary of the home rule committee, that beginning Sept. 26, next Monday, 50-cent eight-ride tickets will be sold here. The tickets will be good on all central zone lines in the Lowell district.

There will be no rebate on the eight-ride tickets. The new system will reduce the cost of a ride from 6 1-3 cents to 6 1-4 cents. The letter which was sent to the mayor and Secretary Curtin reads as follows:

September 19, 1921.
Hon. Perry D. Thompson, Mayor,
Lowell, Mass.

My dear Mr. Mayor:

Upon recommendation of Manager Thomas Lees the public trustees have decided to put into effect experimentally a 50c punch card, 8-ride, no-rebate ticket, good on all single central zone lines in the Lowell district on and after September 26th.

Frankly, we wish to say we do not know how the experiment will work out, but the car riders may be assured that it will be given a good fair trial. The purpose is to make it easier financially for people to ride on the cars, especially during this period of industrial depression when a single investment of $1 for a car ticket is more difficult than when business conditions were good and there was more money in circulation.

The 15 ride $1 ticket with 5c rebate will be continued for use on lines running outside the central zones, where most passengers pay fares by two punches of the ticket.

Yours truly,
HOMER LORING,
Chairman of Public Trustees.

Would Frame Miss Joyce

Continued

United States district attorney for the prosecution for liquor cases, said he would not seek indictments at this time but would wait until other federal officials have completed investigations now going on.

At the resumption of the investigation by the grand jury last night, Dr. Rumwell, physician to Miss Rappé during her fatal illness, was called to explain why an autopsy had been performed following her death without request being made by county officials, as required by law.

Miss Joyce Clark and Reggy Morely and Dr. Gabor Kingstone were called. District Attorney Brady said, in connection with a report intimating possible financial interest of witnesses in the trial.

At the conclusion of the session, District Attorney Brady issued a statement in which he declared that it has been disclosed that these three witnesses had discussed the probability of "making money out of the Ar-buckle case by framing" Miss Joyce Clark to impecch the testimony of Miss Zeh Prevost, a most important prosecution witness.

Arbuckle Reunited

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 20.—Roscoe "Fatty" Arbuckle and the wife from whom he has been separated for more than four years, had a reunion yesterday in the visitors' room at the city prison, where Arbuckle is awaiting trial on a murder charge. He is accused of causing the death of Miss Virginia Rappé at a drinking party in his suite at a hotel here.

Arbuckle clasped Mrs. Minta Durfee Arbuckle in his arms, then affectionately greeted her mother, Mrs. Flora Durfee. The three, with the prisoner's brother, A. C. Arbuckle of San Francisco, then sat down for a half hour of conversation.

The grand jury resumed its investigation of the Arbuckle affair last night, subpoenas having been sent out for Dr. M. E. Rumwell, the attending physician in most of Miss Rappé's illness, Miss Joyce Clark, a participant in the hotel party, Dr. Gabor Kingstone and Reddell Morely, two men who were reported to have some knowledge of the affair, and several other witnesses.

Miss Clark was questioned by District Attorney Matthew A. Brady yesterday, but declined to sign a statement and accordingly was ordered to appear before the grand jury.

Lowell Sherman, of Los Angeles, also subpoenaed, is en route to Chicago, Brady said, and no legal means exist to bring him back. Sherman was an occupant of the Arbuckle suite and was present at the party from which the death of Miss Rappé resulted.

Urge Gov. Cox to Suspend Civil Service Laws

Continued

turned on his heel and left the office. Mr. Goldberg then suggested that I discharge at once all the men in the department who were not taken from the civil service list. I said I could not do it right away, but I promised to get through with every man not properly certified by next Saturday noon. I further promised to make an effort to get all future help I need from the civil service authorities. Tomorrow I will send down for the number of men whom I shall need to go to work next Monday morning.

Mr. Murphy's Remedy

"In his letter to the mayor, Governor Cox asks for suggestions as to what can be done to relieve the unemployment situation. One of the best remedies I know would be to abolish the civil service regulations insofar as they pertain to laborers employed by the city of Lowell. By so doing we shall be able to accommodate the men most worthy of assistance, the men for whom charitable organizations, the clergy and the probation officer have interceded but whom we have been unable to help under civil service regulations. I would suggest that we notify the governor to this effect and ask him to have the civil service regulations abolished for a period of at least three months. If he succeeds in doing that, he will have done a wonderful thing for the unemployed."

Referring to Mr. Adams' letter, suggesting the appointment of a committee of ten to look into the unemployment situation, Mr. Murphy said that he thought such a committee was not needed at present, but perhaps it would be a good thing to prevent people from saying that men were given work simply for political reasons.

It was finally voted to have the mayor write to the governor conveying the suggestion which Mr. Murphy had made.

Mayor Thompson said that he felt the council had already done much to relieve the unemployment situation here. Loans have been negotiated

Fine Provided by Statutes

Continued

It would be possible to exact the fine in the case of each of the 209 men. Faced with the alternative of paying a fine ranging from $20.00 to $200.00, Commissioner Murphy decided that discretion was the better part of valor and agreed to notify the men at once of their discharge.

The letter sent to Commissioner Murphy by Mr. Goldberg reads:

"Dennis A. Murphy, Esq., Commissioner of Streets and Sewers, Lowell, Mass.

Dear Sir: The commissioner of division of civil service has filed a complaint against you alleging that you have for some time past been employing laborers in your department without requisition and certification in accordance with the civil service laws and rules, and that your attention has been called to the matter on various occasions and that the pay of several hundred laborers illegally employed has been withheld under the provisions of Section 35 of Chapter 31 of the general laws, but that you, despite warnings, continued to employ laborers illegally. The commissioner has requested that immediate steps be taken for your prosecution under section 31 of chapter 31 of the general laws. However, before instituting criminal proceedings against you, I should be pleased to hear your version of the situation and any reasons that you may suggest why prosecution should not be instituted. I would appreciate an early reply.

Very truly yours,
LEWIS GOLDBERG,
Assistant Attorney-General."

PASTOR INVENTS WAITERLESS RESTAURANT

INTERIOR OF THE WAITERLESS RESTAURANT AT ST. LOUIS

A step beyond the cafeteria is the waiterless and waitress restaurant invented and conducted by Rev. J. M. Balingier of St. Paul, Minn.

The invention consists of an oval counter with an endless belt on which are carried 87 little cars on wheels. Each car carries food or table ware and runs within easy reach of the patrons seated alongside the counter. The cars are either heated or ice-cooled, according to whether they contain cooked foods or those in need of cooling.

Patrons pay 50 cents admission to the restaurant and then may eat all they want. The only exception are pie and ice cream. A sign warns that a fine of 15 cents will be charged for each extra portion of pie or ice cream.

Former Lowell Boy, Killed in Argonne Forest, Buried in Keeseville, N. Y.

(Special to The Sun)
SCHENECTADY, N. Y., Sept. 20.—The body of Private Lester J. Rowe, son of Mrs. Mary L. Rowe of 208 Fourth avenue, this city, and a native of Lowell, Mass., where he was born and received his preliminary education, has arrived from France and the remains have been sent to Keeseville, N. Y., for burial after a service in St. John's church and the exercises by the American Legion post at the cemetery, where Private Rowe will be afforded full military honors.

Private Rowe was one of the first Schenectady boys to offer his service to the country, enlisting early in 1917. He went overseas in July, 1918, with C company, 16th Infantry, 5th Division, and was killed in action in the Argonne forest October 14th of the same year. When Private Rowe moved from Lowell his family went to Keeseville, where they lived until thirteen years ago when they came to Schenectady. Prior to entering the service Mr. Rowe was in the employ of the General Electric Co. He was formerly a member of St. Thomas' church in Mountpleasant. He leaves, besides his mother, one brother, Walter of Schenectady, and four uncles, John, Peter, Henry and George Bonville, also of Schenectady.

MOTHER-IN-LAW HID UNDER HER BED

WORCESTER, Sept. 20.—The married life of Sylvia S. Soter, prominent Worcester merchant, and his wife, Elger A. Soter, might have been happy enough were it not for Sylvia's stepmother, according to Mrs. Soter in the divorce court before Judge Philip J. O'Connell yesterday.

She sought a divorce on the grounds of cruel and abusive treatment, and this sort of treatment, she testified, resulted from her protesting to her husband of the actions of his stepmother.

"One night," said she, "the stepmother actually remained under our bed throughout the night. To fool us she made an effort of herself and placed it in her bed. Then she went to our room when we were out and got under the bed. We found her there in the morning when we got up. Another morning we arose quite early and found her sleeping outside our door."

Judge O'Connell took the case under consideration.

GETS LIFE TERM FOR THIRD TIME IN 4 YEARS

POINT PLEASANT, W. Va., Sept. 20.—For the third time within four years W. H. (Holly) Griffith has been sentenced to life imprisonment in the penitentiary at Moundsville.

Griffith, who was serving a life term after being convicted of murder, escaped from the state prison early in January of this year. The night he escaped another prisoner was killed and when captured, Griffith was tried and adjudged guilty in connection with his death. The second life sentence was passed upon him at that time.

In the last case the prosecution contended that Griffith, after his escape, came to this region and killed Ira Roush. A verdict of guilty of first degree murder was returned and Judge O'Brien pronounced the life sentence.

BIENNIAL CONVENTION OF MINE WORKERS

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., Sept. 20.—Delegates from the coal fields of the United States and Canada assembled here today for the opening of the biennial convention of the United Mine Workers of America, which is to consider major industrial questions affecting the coal industry during the next fortnight.

Organization preliminaries, including the ceremonies of welcome, occupied the opening program but in the afternoon President John L. Lewis expected to present his report.

The prohibition of the wage question, unemployment, the employment of foreigners in the mines and nationalization of the mines are among the more important questions expected to come before the convention.

ISSUES WARNING ON "HOME BREW"

WASHINGTON, Sept. 20.—Warning that the making of "home brew" is illegal was issued last night by Prohibition Commissioner Haynes.

Numerous inquiries have been received recently, he said, concerning the home manufacture of fruit juices growing out of reports that a head of a household was entitled to make 200 gallons of wine a year under permit.

The prohibition unit's attitude on the home brew question was defined by Mr. Haynes as follows:

"Non-intoxicating fruit juice can be made in the home. Intoxicating wine, home brew and distilled spirits may not be made. Two hundred gallons of non-intoxicating fruit juice may be manufactured tax free by the head of a family registered with a collector of internal revenue.

"This tax exemption provision has been the source of confusion. The effect of this is not to allow the manufacture of 200 gallons of intoxicating wine free from restrictions of the national prohibition act, but merely to allow the manufacture of 200 gallons of non-intoxicating fruit juices free of tax."

NO MAGIC ABOUT MAKING YOUR SKIN SMOOTH

BY MME. MOREAU
PARIS, Sept. 20.—No, you simply shouldn't be content with rough, ugly skin! No girl should—but there isn't any magic about the acquiring of a nicer one.

The route to nice skin is one which takes several weeks, even months, to cover. And olive oil—real olive oil—will be your prime assistant.

Before retiring, wash your hands in hot water and after drying them while the fingers are still warm and soft, dip them in olive oil and slither it over your face. Don't rub it in! And don't rub it off!

Simply cover the skin with a very gentle pressure. Really, rubbing should be avoided since it often injures the sensitive glands and induces disagreeable blemishes.

Olive oil is the basis of a very fine face cream, excellent for these winter days, just ahead, and you can fix your own. Get some ordinary toilet cream, the unscented sort which you can buy in plain jars, and mix it with equal parts of olive oil and almond oil.

Cream it together in a small bowl, adding the olive drop by drop, and working them into the cream. It will finally become a very smooth mass not unlike mayonnaise in texture.

Then put it in a little jar and keep covered while not in use. Only a small quantity of this should be made at a time for it will not keep long.

This is a good preventive for chapping and makes an excellent base for powder during the winter months.

ALBUQUERQUE, N. M., Sept. 20.—New Mexico voters go to the polls today to choose a United States senator to serve out the unexpired term of Albert B. Fall, who entered the cabinet of President Harding on March 4, as secretary of the interior. The successful candidate will serve until March 4, 1925.

Autumn Session of Ulster Parliament

BELFAST, Ireland, Sept. 20.—(By the Associated Press.)—The parliament of northern Ireland opened its autumn session here today with a full attendance of the Unionist members. Neither the Nationalists nor the Sinn Féiners, who hold a total of 12 seats, were in attendance. The session was held in the building which was formerly the Belfast college of the Presbyterian church. The main business of the day was a motion to approve the purchase of Stormont castle as the site of the new parliament buildings. A select committee also was named to consider the question of the remuneration of the cabinet ministers.

Wood of Everett, Mass., was instantly killed and three other persons were injured at midnight when their automobile crashed into the side of the underpass on the Central Vermont Railroad about a mile outside this city. 131,774 Skilled Immigrants Arrived

WASHINGTON, Sept. 20.—Skilled workers among immigrants arriving in this country during the fiscal year ending last June numbered 131,774, against 69,907 during the previous fiscal year, according to figures made public today by the department of labor. There were 17,815 clerks and accountants admitted during the fiscal year while mariners with 13,221 were second in number.

MUST BATHE
TWICE A WEEK

WASHINGTON, Sept. 20.—Every-body ought to be healthy. The Saturday scrubbing is not enough.

This went down in the government book as an official rule today, advocated by the United States bureau of education, which started a nationwide drive for healthier school children and teachers.

In addition to frequent bathing, the bureau declared that the teeth should be brushed at least once a day, that children should sleep long hours with windows open, that children should drink plenty of milk, but no coffee or tea and that they should play out of doors every day.

Further, and the prohibitionists will cheer this rule, which is set down for everybody—four glasses of water a day is a big benefit to health.

HOLD CLAMBAKE

About 100 people attended the clam-bake held Sunday in North Chelmsford under the auspices of the fire department of that part of the town. Prior to the dinner which was the big feature of the day, the guests participated in a variety of sports, which proved very enjoyable. The committee in charge consisted of Joseph D. Ryan, chairman; Donald Callahan, George Shepherd, John Marshall, George Shepherd, Jr., and George Marshall.

SPECULATION RAMPANT
IN SOVIET CAPITAL

MOSCOW, Sept. 20.—(By the Associated Press.)—Speculation is rampant in the capital of Soviet Russia. Wall Street, Threadneedle street, or any other financial district in the world has not half as many "shoestring operators" as this ancient city of czars. The curbs are crowded each day with promoters trying to organize co-operative concerns from tenhouses to automobile factories, and the talk of money inside and outside the government has a candidate ring seldom heard in Russia before the Soviet government decided it was unable to handle all business.

Markets are overcrowded with dealers, but business is standing idle because there is a lack of capital with which to pay the annual rentals, which must be met in advance. Newspapers are filled with suggestions for the assistance of co-operative associations. The Pravda newspaper an article urging that the state bank be allowed to make loans to encourage trade and industry. Speculation was made that interest from 10 to 12 per cent monthly could be charged.

Licenses for 597 shops and 5453 market stalls or street vendors have been issued in Moscow since the opening of free trade. The government levies a tax of 5 per cent in kind on concessionaires producing food stuffs; 5 per cent on chemical manufacturers and 10 per cent on metal working firms.

HAD VISIONS OF
PUMPKIN PIES

Bright visions of luscious pumpkins piled high in the minds of two local youngsters were suddenly shattered last night when police officers appeared on the Pawtucket boulevard and asked two boys who were dragging along two carts loaded with big yellow pumpkins, a few questions. Questions and answers resulted in the boys changing their course from one homeward bound to another leading to the Market street headquarters. There, in the corridor of the station, beside moorish equipment recently seized in house raids, the boys were taken into custody. The boys were determined to have a pumpkin feast, made a raid on his grounds. The boys will be arraigned in the juvenile court Friday.

The postage stamp collection craze began in 1849.

Gyp's Going Back to Her English
Home—Passage Has Been Arranged

MISS MAMIE POWERS, HER MOTHER AND GYP.

Gyp is going back to England. Though an ocean voyage means nothing to Gyp. She's quite blasé, worldly-wise, as it were, so far as travels are concerned.

She's journeyed from England to Ireland, thence to Canada, eventually bringing up in Chicago. And the streets of the latter city she's mastered on her own! So Gyp faces the trip back to England with not a little unconcern.

Indeed, she forced the thing! She's had a way of doing that ever since she was born in a military camp at Shorncliffe, Kent, and came into the possession of a little English girl, Mamie Powers, and her mother. She began by forcing a ride in a dog-drawn English wash basket which a dignified English maid was carrying. Gyp spied the nice soft white looking mass moving in the yard below the second-story window from which she viewed the landscape. When it came into focus Gyp leaped and landed safely in the midst of the freshly laundered clothes, which the maid, whom Gyp knew, was carrying.

That's Gyp's way. But she's just as generous with her friendship as she expects other folk to be with theirs.

The difficulty of arranging passage for Gyp had been so great that Miss Powers decided to find a home for her on this side.

But Gyp had plans of her own. She sought the first chance to escape and after traveling at least three miles over busy Chicago streets, she was found waiting one morning, footsore, but happy, at the door of the house where Miss Powers and her mother were staying. So passage is being arranged for Gyp.

LIQUOR PERMITS STOLEN

20,000 Gallons of Whiskey Illegally Withdrawn—74 Druggists Lose License

NEW YORK, Sept. 20.—At least 20,000 gallons of whiskey have been illegally withdrawn by distillers in various parts of the country, and the court of the city of New York has ordered the withdrawal of about 400,000 cases, but all New York permits outstanding were cancelled upon discovery of the theft. Permits for 71 wholesale druggists in this city to sell liquor have been revoked on suspicion that they are not legitimate druggists.

FISH AND GAME CLUB OUTING

The members of the executive and outing committees of the Fish and Game association at their meeting tonight in Old Fellows hall completed all details for the outing at Wadsworth lake next Thursday. Practically all arrangements have been made and only minute details remain to be attended to. With good weather it is expected one of the biggest crowds that ever attended a similar affair will be on hand.

New Home for Larrabee Boy

agent of the Lowell Humane society was notified by telephone by Alvaro Larrabee, aged 9 years, son of Harry J. Larrabee, who was locked up in a little closet of the Larrabee home and that the little fellow was pounding desperately on the walls of the closet. Mr. Larrabee immediately got in touch with police officials and Lieutenant Palmer and Maher accompanied him to the Larrabee home. Upon breaking into the attic, the officers found the boy crouched down on the closet floor and within the closet they found little Alvaro. The little chap was taken to the home of a neighbor. He was later taken to the Chelmsford street hospital upon advice of City Physician M. A. Tighe.

The little chap, it is stated, declared when questioned that he had had nothing to eat for two or three days, and when freed from the lightless and practically airless closet, he was found to have been provided with a pitcher of water, but no food of any description.

The boy, through the activity of Agent Richardson of the Humane society, was brought before Judge Enright at the juvenile session of the district court a week ago last Friday as a "neglected child." At that time a continuance was asked for as it was thought an uncle of the boy would adopt him.

Hugh A. Larrabee, who adopted the boy this morning, owns a large farm at Gayville, Vt. He has no children and has a liking for the little fellow. His reputation, as far as the agent of the Humane society was able to find out from the town officials of Gayville is excellent and Mr. Richardson feels that no better home could have been secured for Alvaro, who seemed very much pleased after he was informed that he would board the next train for the Vermont town.

After the adoption papers had been signed by the court, Mr. and Mrs. Hugh A. Larrabee, who were present in court left the building on their way to the railroad station, taking along with them Alvaro, who seemed to be the happiest boy in the world. The boy's father said "goodbye" when the lad was leaving the court room.

STRUCK BY AUTOMOBILE

Lillian Blaisdell, a little girl residing in the Westlands, Chelmsford, was struck by an automobile while playing in the road near her home yesterday and received painful injuries to her arm and body. It seems that the little girl was playing in the street with other children and paid no heed to the tooting of the automobile horn. The driver of the car, it is said, was operating his machine at a moderate speed at the time of the accident.

De Valera Note Conciliatory

of the Sinn Féin note of Sept. 12, in which the sovereignty of the Irish state was asserted, and which led Mr. Lloyd George to cancel his invitation to a conference.

As viewed here the latest Irish note was conciliatory in character, and it seemed to place upon the prime minister the choice of holding a free conference or insisting that southern Ireland formally express its allegiance to the British crown. It was generally believed that the note sent to Mr. Lloyd George yesterday marked a step which would tend to relieve the situation of some of the tension which developed late last week and threatened to end, for a time at least, any hope of an early settlement.

The prime minister is rapidly recovering from the indisposition which confined him to his rooms at Gairloch, and it seemed probable today that before replying to Mr. de Valera, he would confer with several members of the cabinet who are in Scotland. It was reported that private telegrams had passed freely between Dublin and Gairloch, and that Mr. Lloyd George had kept in close touch with sentiment among the ministers who were in this city. He was said to be disposed to move slowly in dealing with the Irish situation.

Text of De Valera's Note

The text of Mr. De Valera's telegram sent to Lloyd George yesterday follows:

"Sir—We have had no thought at any time of asking you to accept any conditions precedent to a conference. We would have thought it as unreasonable to expect you as a preliminary to recognize the Irish republic formally or informally, as that you should expect us, formally or informally, to surrender our national position. It is precisely because neither side accepts the position of the other that there is a dispute at all and that a conference is necessary to search for and discuss such adjustments as might compose it."

"A treaty of accommodation and association, properly concluded between the people of these two islands and between Ireland and the group of 'states of the British commonwealth,' would, we believe, end the dispute forever and enable the two nations to settle down in peace, each pursuing its own individual development and contributing its own quota to civilization, but working together in free and friendly co-operation in affairs of agreed common concern."

Fears Misunderstanding in Letters

To negotiate such a treaty the respective representatives of the two nations must meet, but if you seek to impose preliminary conditions which we must regard as involving the surrender of our whole position, they cannot meet.

"Your last telegram makes it clear that misunderstandings are more likely to increase than diminish and the cause of peace is more likely to be retarded than advanced by the continuance of the present correspondence."

"We request you, therefore, to state whether your letter of Sept. 7 is intended to be a demand for surrender on our part or an invitation to a conference free on both sides and without prejudice to make arrangements for a 'whist party' to be held at the next meeting and routine business was transacted."

"If the latter, we readily confirm our acceptance of the invitation and our appointed delegates will meet your government's representatives at any time in the immediate future that you designate."

The communication is signed: "I am, sir, yours faithfully,"

"DE VALERA."

THE DYE CONTROVERSY

There is no single item in the tariff bill on which there is so much difference of opinion as upon the question of putting an embargo on German dyes. On the one side, it is announced that Germany has already planned a dye war on the United States and that she intends to push it to the limit. Dr. Charles H. Herty of the National Research Council has returned from Europe and gives a rather alarming account of the scope which this dye war may assume and the alleged danger to the industry in the United States unless German dyes are absolutely excluded. He states that France and England have already protected themselves against the German dyes either by a tariff or a license system.

On the other side, the American Chemical Society is leading the opposition to German dyes and in favor of an out-and-out embargo. It is alleged that the American Chemical Foundation received for the nominal sum of $250,000 all of the German dye patents which came into possession of the alien property custodian during the war. It would appear, therefore, that the Chemical Foundation would thus be given the complete monopoly in the manufacture and sale of dyes and would be enabled to increase the price as it pleased.

Between these two bodies come the American manufacturers, who use the dyes in making cloth. It is claimed that already millions of dollars' worth of clothing has been thrown back on the manufacturers because the American colors do not hold. Some of the dyemakers hint that these complaints are but a form of German propaganda, but for this there seems to be little foundation in fact. What the manufacturers want is the staying qualities of the colors. The whole question seems to be rather involved for the reason that there is much contradiction of statement on either side with the result that only the manufacturers who use the dyes are competent to judge of all the conflicting statements. It would seem, however, that the interests of the manufacturers must be considered as well as those of the Chemical Foundation.

In order to compete with foreign manufacturers, the American textile factories must use the best dyes obtainable. If they cannot get suitable American dyes they should be allowed to import what they need. It would seem, therefore, that the question may best be settled by imposing a reasonable tariff on dyes rather than by an embargo.

THE IRISH SITUATION

Lloyd George wants the Irish leader to disavow his belief in the Irish republic as a sovereign state; but De Valera will do no such thing. Neither will he nor any of his colleagues ever subscribe to any document or agreement that would deny Ireland's right to be a sovereign nation despite the British claim based upon historic antecedents. All the facts of history are against any submission on the part of Ireland that would destroy her righteous claim to independence whether it be recognized now or later on. If the conference is held, the Irish delegation will be selected by the Dail Eirann, the parliament of the republic.

Whatever settlement may be made, it appears, will apply only to the part of Ireland not under control of the Ulster parliament. If a plebiscite were taken in the Ulster counties, it would not be surprising to find five of the nine counties voting in favor of joining the republic. It has been claimed that the Sinn Fein are unfair in not recognizing Ulster's right to self-determination. The fact is that Ulster as the minority that has tried to dominate all of Ireland, has succeeded because she could not, as in the past, dictate the policy of all Ireland. President De Valera, however, has repeatedly shown that the independence of Ulster is not inconsistent with the republican government. But should Ireland set up an independent government, Ulster would soon be obliged, through economic pressure, to join the other provinces in order to save her industries.

CENTRAL AMERICAN UNION

For a dozen years the five Central American states north of Panama have been associated in a central court of justice to serve their common interests. Now, three of them, Guatemala, Honduras and Salvador, have formed a federation intended to include all five. Costa Rica and Nicaragua have not formally joined, but they realize the advantages offered and it is understood favor the union.

The federation has adopted a constitution modeled after that of the United States, even to the federal district for which Tegucigalpa in Honduras has been chosen as the capital on account of its central location.

They have a coast line of 2,600 miles divided between the Atlantic and Pacific, with three fine ports on the Pacific and two on the Atlantic so that the new federation has great possibilities of development along industrial and commercial lines.

CANADA'S WHEAT WIZARD

Sageer Wheeler, Canada's wheat wizard, gets 120 a bushel for Early Triumph, his new variety of seed wheat. It ripens 15 days earlier than any other wheat and yields 8 to 10 bushels more to the acre.

That helps all farmers by increasing their possible profits. It also moves the wheat belt 100 miles farther north, putting millions of acres under cultivation.

Wheeler, on his Saskatchewan farm, has a wheat production record of 82 bushels an acre. In international expositions he has won the world's championship five times. Men like Wheeler and Luther Burbank will be the outstanding figures of our age when history records the achievements of men who did something to help their kind or to make two blades of grass grow where but one grew before.

TINKERING THE CONSTITUTION

It is remarkable with what frequency some people assert that we must have various other amendments to the constitution in the near future. One of the latest proposed would bar "any political, civil or legal disability on account of sex or marriage." That may seem simple but it would be impossible of enforcement for the reason that there are certain physical disabilities of women that cannot be put aside by any change in the constitution. Conditions preceding child birth would make the application of such an amendment somewhat embarrassing. Besides, the poll tax law is another case in which it might be as well for the women to let the constitution remain as it is. The women succeeded in having the suffrage amendment adopted and should now take a rest on tinkering the constitution.

SOLDIERS ON THE RHINE

American soldiers on the Rhine dread the day when they will have to come home. So do the Germans, who owe us about $244,000,000 for maintenance of the Yankee military camps, but still are treating them like star boarders.

That is the report brought from Coblenz headquarters by Lieutenant Kie Cady. German diplomacy centers on courtship of the favor of America. Besides, what is a trifle like $244,000,000 to a Germany that has agreed to pay an indemnity of $34,000,000,000 in bonds? If our soldiers came home now, they would have to contend with the unemployment situation unless the war department chose to hold them in the service until business conditions show greater improvement.

NO ACCIDENT WEEK

Lowell should be prepared to observe "No Accident Week," opening September 25, with much enthusiasm because of the great number of accidents, many of them fatal, resulting from the more or less reckless use of the automobile and the carelessness of pedestrians. Fast driving in thickly settled districts has caused many accidents but it is safe to say that intoxicated drivers have caused even more. They indulge the speed habit without the mental ability to exercise ordinary care against accidents.

All classes will be greatly benefited by a week of education in the causes of automobile accidents and how to overcome them.

FOR THE UNEMPLOYED

Governor Cox did the right thing in sending out an appeal to towns and cities urging some action in the line of public works in behalf of the unemployed. Lowell has been doing considerable in that direction already, although the aldermen may be able to devise some additional work to be finished before the cold weather.

There is no doubt that many families are feeling the pinch quite severely and that relief is needed; but as to how it can best be relieved is a difficult problem. Very few of those who are idle care to be put on the outdoor relief list if they can possibly find work.

RAILROAD STRIKE VOTE

There seems to be a forecast of trouble ahead in the action of the railroad shop crafts in voting to strike against the wage cut which took effect on July 1, but suspending the operation of the vote until such times as the Railroad Labor Board issues the final working rules. The railroad unions claim that the roads want to precipitate a strike and the railroad operators assert that the unions want to force government ownership. It is to be hoped that no railroad strike will be declared during a period of business depression as it would make conditions immeasurably worse.

CRUEL TREATMENT

The United States government must take steps to prevent the steamship companies from imposing upon foreign peoples by bringing them to these shores only to find the doors barred against them by the legal limitation. Recently several hundred Armenians were landed here but refused admittance on the ground that they had Turkish rather than Armenian passports. That, in the opinion of the officials, made them Turks instead of Armenians; but we should think it would be easy to decide as to the difference between the two races.

Somewhat the chill in the air these mornings causes many people to think of their winter coal supply. The price is still high and while it may go higher, there is no chance of its being lower before winter.

It is up to the police to nab the snatch thieves who have been operating in Belvidere for the past week. The highways of the city must be made safe for people of all ages, using them at any hour of the day or night.

Although there is here a business depression, thousands of Europeans are anxious to get a chance to come here, feeling that their chances, however poor here, will be very much better than in Europe.

To have a real "No Accident Week" in Lowell, everybody must exercise due caution.

The movie business of this country needs to be renovated.

SEEN AND HEARD

If reformers want followers they might carry a bottle down the street.

Shaw says he doesn't want to come to America. That makes it unanimous.

Just about this time of the year the kernels of sweet corn begin to take on a toughness that betokens the doom of summer.

A farmer who had driven into Manchester, N. H., for the day tied his horse to the back of an auto truck that was parked on the curb. The owner of the truck came out of a store, never noticed the appendage to his car, and drove down the street, nearly a mile before his attention was called to the horse galloping along behind.

The Second Company
The manager of an "Uncle Tom's Cabin" company, intentionally forgot to pay the members of the company their usual salaries and "skipped" with all the money. The players, as soon as they discovered the true situation, untroubled by the blood money used in the play and put them on the trail of the missing manager. The bloodhounds caught up with the manager but the latter, in a flash, had formed a No. 2 company of "Uncle Tom's Cabin."

Keeping a Secret
In a suit recently tried in Boston it happened that one of the witnesses was a personal friend of a lawyer on the other side, and that it was his duty to cross-examine her. By reason of their friendship he stated, if possible, a trifle more personal with her than he would have been with another witness.

"Can you be trusted with a secret?" he asked at one juncture of the cross-examination.
The woman drew herself up proudly. "You have known me for 10 years, haven't you?" she asked in turn.

"Yes."

"Well, do you know how old I am?"

"My dear," remarked Mrs. De Wiggs, at the breakfast table, "the doctor says that hot water will cure all diseases."

"He does—does he?" said Mr. De Wiggs.

"Yes; and persons who use the treatment ought never to be ill at all!"

"Well, I don't believe it."

"You know how I am always ill!"

"But you have never tried the hot-water cure?"

"What! never tried it?" ejaculated De Wiggs, as she sidled towards the door. "Why I've been in hot water ever since I married you!"

He got outside just in time to miss a tea cup fired at him as a parting salute.—Philadelphia Inquirer.

Looking Backward

I'm the chap that got high wages. Now I get it in the neck!
I'm the chump that bought potatoes at a dollar ten a peck.
I indulged in rum or gin, say at a dollar a bottle.
And I paid a half dollar for the bottom of the round.

I blew in about three dollars for a simple cotton sheet.
And I have paid eighteen-fifty just to decorate my feet.

I recall I had to dig up seven dollars for a hat.
And I paid the darned old landlord forty dollars for the dat!

I've had money, seeds of money, and I tell you it seemed good.
And I hung it out regardless, as a drunken sailor would.

Just how long I have been on combs, huh! I didn't know or care.
All I knew was I was living like a blooming millionaire.

But today I need a dollar, and I haven't got a dime.
And the boss has told me coldly that I shall be no more over-time.

I've had money and I've spent it, and I don't know where it went.
All I know is, I've been wealthy, and I haven't saved a cent!

MAN ABOUT TOWN

The coming registration sessions for pupils intending to go to evening high school this year, will be watched with interest inasmuch as there is a considerable speculation as to just what effect local industrial conditions will have on the attendance. Offhand, one would say that with many young people, who are of legal age, having left school to school at night. However, Henry H. Harris, principal of both the day and evening high schools, says it is probable that the effect of local industrial conditions will have on the evening school. The swollen enrollment at the day school may tend to decrease the evening registration, he says, because many young people who see no chance to get employment for the next few months have decided to go to the day school. Had they gone to work, in all probability they would have joined the evening high school classes.

On the other hand, there may be enough young people out of work to fill both the day and evening classes to overflowing.

He heartily agrees with Judge John J. Pickman, in his strong commendation and praise for the police department, who are doing the able direction of Sergt. Michael Winn. Have been doing highly effective work towards reducing the community of weak contraband liquor. Let them spare no offender, treating all alike and they will have the praise of the entire community.

Daredevils have formed a suicide club in London, membership limited to 13. Initiation includes driving a motorcycle through a plate glass window.

Self-preservation is man's first instinct. It is a rare case where that instinct can be smothered by a craze for thrills. Some of the daredevils and human flies can do stunts with safety that would be sure death to others who tried it. There is but one George Polley.

Nearly everyone has passed through a danger big enough to admit him to the suicide club if the danger didn't have to be premeditated. When considering how, sir, things up by being in "What the narrowest escape you ever had from death?" You have had a great many of which you remember nothing.

How can you live to be more than 100? In the Berkshire, near the Connecticut line, a wood-chopper named Joseph Gillette. He is in his 120th year, chops wood 10 hours a day, six days a week—and says hard work is what made him live so long. Most exceptionally old men have the same reason. But the real reason for their unusual age probably that mysterious nature gives them an excess of the powerful current that drives the motors of the body. Work, however, does prolong the average life. Many retired business men die before their time, from the rest of inactivity. More than 200 years ago, Arnold, the great Frenchman, was urged to retire, by his friend Nicolle. "What for?" asked Arnold. "You are old. It is time to rest." "Rest!" snorted Arnold. "I have all eternity to rest in!"

UNEMPLOYMENT CONFEREES

Harding Names Group of Men and Women to Confer on Situation

Hoover Made Chairman, Davis, Barnes, Schwab, Gompers, Lewis Named

Mayor Peters of Boston a Member—Conferees Will Meet Monday

WASHINGTON, Sept. 20.—Announcement of the names of 35 men and three women who have accepted President Harding's invitation to take part in a national conference on unemployment here beginning next Monday was made last night by Secretary Hoover. Other names will be announced later, he said, when all the replies have been received.

The list includes Secretaries Hoover and Davis, Julius Barnes, Samuel Gompers, Charles M. Schwab, and John L. Lewis of the mine workers. The three women are Ida Tarbell of New York, Mary Van Kleef of New York, connected with the Russell Sage foundation, and Elizabeth Christman of Chicago, an officer of the National Women's Trade Union league.

Mr. Hoover has been appointed by President Harding chairman of the conference, which, it was said, will at once resolve itself into special committees for the formulation of definite plans for submission to the conference as a whole. "These committees," Mr. Hoover asserted, "will conduct close cooperation from other representatives of labor, employers and civic bodies in the formulation of their views."

Geographic Representation
In naming the members of the conference, Mr. Hoover said, it has been the desire of the president to secure geographic representation and at the same time have regard to the different elements of the community who are interested and can be helpful in the problem, without any attempt at proportional numbers or political groups. "The object of the conference," he said, "is to get the best of the community who are interested and can be helpful in the problem, without any attempt at proportional numbers or political groups."

An economic advisory committee of 20 was appointed in advance of the conference, and Mr. Hoover stated, has been at work on the preparation of unemployment data and upon a working program for the conference. Secretary Davis also has been cooperating in formulating the conference plans, he said, and has been directing a renewed survey of unemployment throughout the country for the use of the conferees.

To Get to Work Quickly

The conferees, Mr. Hoover continued, is expected to get to work quickly in order that the administration may be in a position to combat unemployment before winter. The president's invitations, he said, stated that "the conference is called to inquire into the volume and distribution of unemployment, to advise upon emergency measures that can be properly taken by employers, local authorities and civic bodies and to consider such measures as tend to give impulse to the recovery of business and commerce to normal."

In arriving at a policy for providing employment, however, Mr. Hoover declared, the conferees would consider any charity arrangements such as have been put into effect by a number of foreign governments. While no announcement has been made as yet by the White House, it is considered probable that President Harding will open the conference with an address outlining the administration's attitude towards the nation's unemployment situation.

WAS AFRAID TO GO DOWN TOWN ALONE

"I DON'T SEE HOW I STOOD MY MISERIES SO LONG" SAYS SPRINGFIELD WOMAN

"I feel so different since taking Tanlac that I don't know how I endured my miseries so long," said Mrs. Geo. Linton, of 62 Beech st., Springfield, Mass.

"Five years ago I began suffering from what was said to be nervous indigestion. My appetite went back on me and I got so I scarcely ate anything. Often, after eating, I was seized with severe cramps which sometimes lasted for a whole day and night. I had gas, grills, pretty bad and would feel all bloated up for days. Some days my head felt like it would burst with pain and I had this kind of headache four or five times a week. My kidneys were weak and I had severe pains in my back. I got so weak I could barely get about the house and was afraid that I understood to go down town I couldn't get home. Many mornings I had to stay in bed for I was too sick and weak to get up."

"I was pretty lousy and discouraged at the time I got Tanlac, but I had not finished the first bottle until I felt very much improved. I have taken six bottles now and am a different woman. All signs of indigestion are gone. I have gained ten pounds and am so much stronger that my housework is easy for me. Tanlac is wonderful and I wish I had taken it long ago."

Tanlac and Tanlac's reliable pills are sold in Lowell by Green's Drug store under the personal direction of a special Tanlac representative, by Wright Drug Co., 100 Main st., Lowell, Mass.; J. D. Falls, Chemsford, Mass.; Snow's Pharmacy, Concord, Mass.; and by the leading druggists in every town.—Adv.

Berton Braley's Daily Poem FAIR ENOUGH

I do not love the income tax, I never am prepared to pay it. My peace of mind is greatly risks That I can't dodge it or delay it. It's always due when I am broke. With screams of agony I greet it, I have to put my watch in snail to meet it.

It is the ghost at every feast, It dulls the edge of my successes. For when my earnings are increased The income tax more sorely presses. I curse with voice that's like a rasp This country, on the whole, is faring. I smooth the wrinkles from my brow, I mop my grumbling and my swearing.

The tax may be too high a charge, But as I view the rest of earth, It appears my country, by and large, Is worth it!

LEGION IN POLITICS

Committee to Draft Resolution Named—Harding Attacked—Cole for Chief

BOSTON, Sept. 20.—A motion for the appointment of a committee to draft a resolution that would have the American Legion enter actively into politics was adopted by a vote of 33 to 19 at the pre-convention meeting of the Suffolk county council of the Massachusetts American Legion in Boston last evening.

Members spoke spiritedly in favor of political activity by the Legion and urged that politicians yesterday neglect the interests of the ex-soldiers because they know that the Legion is restrained in its action by the fact that it is not in politics.

The committee appointed is Joseph Heffernan, South End, Port W. Mason, William E. Carter Post, and Miss Margaret Mitchell of Boston. P. Edwards Post, President Harding was attacked for his attitude toward the bonus.

"President Harding broke faith with the American Legion," it was declared, and again, "We were served up on a platter and slaughtered."

Some speakers protested that the president should not be charged with the blame in the matter, but others objected to an attitude "the president can do no wrong." One member suggested to the chair that the motion ought to be written up in big type so that he will read it.

Commander Scott of the Perkins Post, South Boston, submitted the name of Gen. Charles H. Cole to be considered for the position of state commander. Commander Scott stated that General Cole is not a candidate for the majority of Boston.

John J. Harding of the Michael J. Perkins Post, South Boston, chairman last night, was elected delegation leader, Martin A. Pickett, secretary of the council, was chosen delegation secretary.

On the committee appointed to draft resolutions on the revision of the civil service laws are: John J. Dwyer, Orlin H. Heston, Coleman Curran, Firemen's Post, and A. J. McNeal, Back Bay Post.

After a lengthy debate as to whether the council should interpose men for the positions of state legion officers, it was decided that names merely be suggested. The following names were then submitted: State commander, General Charles H. Cole.

First vice commander, William H. Doyle, Malden; T. H. Boardman, Salem; John W. Roth, Roslindale.

Executive committee, Clement H. Norton, Hyde Park.

State adjutant, A. M. Spillane, Chelsea, present incumbent; Albert Pruden, East Boston; M. J. Cunningham, Dorchester; Joseph Heffernan, South End; Miss Margaret Mitchell, Women's Post.

Delegate at large, W. J. Jennings, All Dorchester Post.

Historian, John Walsh, Lowell; Charles Lombardi, North End.

Foch Trains For Trip to United States

BREST, Sept. 20.—Marshal Foch, who on Oct. 22 will sail for the United States, has gone into training for the trip on his Brittany estate a few miles from here. He will stay there for a month getting in condition to meet the rigors of a series of banquets he expects to attend while visiting the United States.

"Poor Marshal Fayolle was no the verge of dyspepsia when he returned from America," the marshal is said to have remarked jokingly, "and he has a much better stomach than I. If the Americans insist upon banqueting me as they propose, I am afraid the 'battle of the bulge' will be my undoing."

POPE BENEDICT SPEAKS

Addresses Members of Order of St. Francis—Says Society Affected With Discord

ROME, Sept. 20.—Society today is deeply affected with civil discord, due to excessive egotism and a refusal to acknowledge inevitable differences between social classes, said Pope Benedict yesterday during an address to members of the Order of St. Francis, gathered here in international congress. As a result, he added, treaties of peace were signed by nations, but they continued to engage in bloody conflicts. Pope Benedict emphasized St. Francis' love of peace and concord, and said that only this spirit could heal present conditions. Nearly 5000 delegates to the congress were received by the pope, who addressed the assembly in the Court of Madonna in the Vatican.

LOSS $25,000

Fire Ruins Fair Ground Buildings at St. Johnsbury

ST. JOHNSBURY, Vt., Sept. 20.—In a spectacular fire which occurred shortly after noon yesterday at the Caledonia Fair grounds, the grandstand, judges' stand, bandstand, vaudeville stage and the 50 new horse stalls were totally destroyed.

In cleaning up the grounds after the big fair last week workers had, during the forenoon, been burning rubbish not far from the south end of the grandstand, and left the fire property extinguished as they supposed, upon going to dinner. During their absence the wind, coming up, carried sparks to the horse stalls, and when discovered was beyond control, and soon the other buildings were in flames. With little water available the fire department and volunteers could not save the burning buildings but managed to keep these near from a similar fate.

The loss will exceed $25,000, it is estimated, and to offset this there was a total of only $2200 insurance, carried by the Vermont Mutual Insurance company upon the two larger structures.

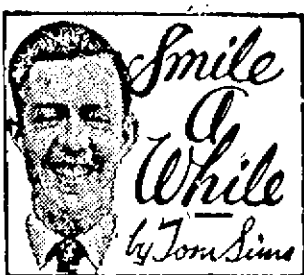

Before the fire was entirely under control the flames spread in the dry grass south of the fair grounds property and endangered the electric light plant, but were soon extinguished.

JUDGE DISMISSES LENIENT JURY

BOSTON, Sept. 20.—When the jury sitting in Judge Christopher T. Callahan's session of the Suffolk superior court returned finding after finding of not guilty after little deliberation, the justice summarily dismissed them yesterday afternoon. Out of five cases the jury had already returned four verdicts of not guilty, and then on another case of larceny they returned the same verdict after they had discussed the case but six minutes.

Whereupon the justice, courteously but firmly dismissed them.

NEW ENGLAND WOMAN THREE

TIMES ON VERGE OF COMPLETE NERVOUS BREAKDOWN

Mrs. A. W. Etheridge, 649 Albany Avenue, Hartford, Conn., Describes in Letter How Wincarnis Helped Restore Her to Health

"I feel it my duty to tell you what your wonderful Wincarnis has done for me," writes Mrs. Etheridge. "Three different times in the last four years has it helped save me from a complete nervous breakdown. This time I was suffering severely from general debility and felt very nervous and run-down, but, as usual, Wincarnis did the work. I am well on the road to recovery and have to thank Wincarnis for the great improvement in my health.

"If any one who doubts the value of Wincarnis will write me, I will gladly tell them all it has done for me."

How Wincarnis will help to restore your vital energy—enrich your blood—strengthen your nerves and promote vigor and vitality

In almost every case of weakness, anemia, nervousness and run-down vitality, there is real shortage in the body of several mineral elements which are positively essential to the creation of vital power. These elements are, particularly, Iron, Calcium, Potassium, Sodium, Phosphorus. All these elements are contained in Wincarnis, because Wincarnis is prepared especially for weak, anemic, nervous and run-down people. So that by taking Wincarnis when you are weak, anemic, nervous or run-down, you supply to the body the very mineral elements it needs and, in this way, you pay the body, as it were, for the work it does by supplying the mineral elements necessary to enable the body to create vital energy—to make the blood rich and red—to strengthen the nerves—and to promote renewed vigor, vitality and endurance.

Choose the right way to health

Remember this important fact—if you are weak, anemic, nervous or run-down, because of a shortage in the body of Iron, Calcium, Potassium, Sodium and Phosphorus, it follows that no single one alone of these will do. The body must be supplied with all of them. And because Wincarnis contains all of them in most appropriate proportions and acceptable form, Wincarnis should be your choice if you desire new strength—new rich, red blood—new nerve force and new vitality. Over 10,000 physicians have recommended Wincarnis. Try just one bottle. Sold in two sizes, $1.50 and $3.00. Obtainable at Burkinshaw Drug Co., 116-118 Middlesex St., and all first class druggists. and a player with a proven reputation for ability was chosen to play the villainous role. Milton Sills, who has played in many recent big productions, plays the part of Bayard, the mining engineer. Also in the cast is the noted comedian, Harold Lloyd, the noted comedian, appears in "Number, Please," a scream from start to finish. The International News and a novelty reel completes the bill.

MUSICAL OPERETTA BY GIRLS' CLUB

If the first rehearsal of "Springtime," the musical operetta to be presented by the Girls' Club Oct. 7 and 8, which took place last night in the rooms of the organization, can be taken as a criterion, the regular performances of the production are surely bound to prove huge successes. With more than 200 members to choose from the cast will be composed of high class talent and under the able direction of Miss Laura Close, musical director for the Rogers' Producing company, the play is expected to make a decisive hit in Lowell.

Picturesque portrayals intended to depict various periods between 1855 and the present day are to be features of the operetta and Miss Close will devote much attention to a perfection of the costumes. Rehearsals will be held every night with the exception of Saturday.

Helen Morretti, billed as "The Little Girl with the Big Voice," is one of the sweetest little ladies to appear here for some time. She has just enough stage presence to make her attractive and her voice has an uncommonly pleasing quality. She sings both classic and modern numbers with equal ease and grace as much at home in Italian as English.

Cooper and Lane in "Hotel Gossip" are a couple of dark-face comedians who rattle off song after song in a happy manner. There's a lot of good fun in their work.

LOWELL OPERA HOUSE

"Scrambled Wives," a three-act comedy by Adelade Mathews and Martha Stanley, a humorous production that delighted thousands of New Yorkers during a most remarkable run, captivated a capacity crowd at the Opera House last night. And judging by the success it met with in its initial performance here and the exceptional favor it won wherever shown, this fun-loving vehicle will continue to entertain thousands of Lowellites during its stay at the local playhouse the remainder of the week.

Highly entertaining and very pleasing, "Scrambled Wives" proved to be the surest of sure cures for blues and was referred to last night as a production founded on a wholesome, genuine and true to life theme, at the same time a high class diversion and merry making exhibition from beginning to end.

Presenting a well balanced cast, each role fitting its portrayal to perfection, this production of the living range, one of the greatest successes of the theatrical world, is certainly one of the finest ever brought to this city and will undoubtedly stand in time as one of the plays that made the people of Lowell feel grateful for the opportunity of viewing it.

Intervenor with the humor that is ever constant in the show, this play shows itself as a mystery at the start but which gradually unravels, finally revealing itself in the closing seconds of the first Mrs. Chivich, Miss Gracey Scott, the leading lady, covers herself with glory. Called on to portray a difficult part, this actress, with her great ability as a polished actress and pleased the large audience by the manner in which she played the part of a wife, not in love with her husband, a man in whose company, by cleverly devised situations, she often finds herself several instances discovered by her

And opposite her playing in fashion worth commending most favorably is found William D. Howard, the leading male character, assuming the role of "over heels" in love with Lucille. The play calls for difficult acting in the parts of both Miss Scott and Mr. Howard, and the audience's praise for these stars received last night is sufficient proof that their work was most satisfactory to a critical audience. Miss Marion Coogan as Connie Chivich, the second wife of John Chivich, successor to the place held by Lucille in the highly esteemed Chivich household, portrays her role in smooth and easy going fashion, evidence of her clever ability to take a most troublesome part and play it without difficulty.

Her husband, Clarence Chase, known as John Chivich, the man who has twice ventured on the matrimonial sea but who upon his second trip brought back a face with his former spouse in some hazardous, but most hilarious situations, is a bright light of the production, and to him goes much credit for the great success of the play.

Beatrice Harlow, played by Miss Marie Fuller, a young woman who tried hard but in vain to win the affection of Larry Melrose, appealed to the crowd and her work was highly meritorious. Acting opposite her was found Kullman Matus, as Dickey Van Arsdale, a young doctor who worships Beatrice, but for whom the young woman shows little more than no concern at all. There is a pretty scene enacted in the last act between these two characters which is highly touching and true to human life.

Bessie Carleton, played by Miss Mabel Griffith, is another pleasing personality and her work is deserving of honorable mention.

THIS IS THE FIRST OF FIVE THRILLING EXPERIENCES OF BILL HART'S FAMOUS PINTO PONY, PALE AND CO-STAR OF THE ROUGH-RIDING FILM HERO, AS PREPARED ESPECIALLY FOR THE SUN BY HART. YOU WILL FIND THEM OF ABSORBING AND MOUNTING INTEREST—FULL OF QUANT HUNOR, HORSE-SENSE, KICK AND COURAGE. READ 'EM TO YOUR YOUNGSTERS.

(Copyright 1921 by Wm. S. Hart.)

Say, Kate, stay here, it's awfully nice an' shady under this big, white oak tree—let's stay here till the sun gets low. I want to talk to you some—about myself an' the boss. You know he thinks he owns this ranch, but he don't—me an' you an' Lizabeth the mule, an' Wolf, the dog, we own it an', by golly, we'll run it too. What hey? I got to show for my seven years' work in pictures—if we don't own this place at Newhall, California? 'Course I got lots o' sugar an' letters from little boys an' girls, an' grown-ups, too, from all over the world—an' I'd be real stuck up an' sassy if I didn't appreciate it, which I do—a whole lot.

Now you all just make yourself comfortable an' do a lot o' listenin', 'cause you're my sweethearts, Kate, an' you're my pardner, Mule, Wolf's our pardner, too, but he don't savvy horse talk much.

On Long Road

Big Bill, the boss, says we are going to rest for six months longer. And when you've worked in the movies for seven years like me an' Big Bill did, a rest ain't so bad.

I got lots an' lots o' time to think now, an' sometimes when Bill he stands a patting my nose an' rubbin' my gentle like, he says, "I got a kinda sentimental an' I think back about all the times me an' Bill has been up agin it an' what we been through. I remember once—we had to do a ride down a crooked windin' mountain trail an' it had been rainin' an' the ground wuz all soft an' slippery, when we wuz climbin' up an' I wuz slippin' an' loopin' all over.

A Tough Stunt

I said to Bill, "Gee, what is this gosh to be. Do I wear skates?" An' Bill he said, quiet like, (doggoned him, he gits my goat when we git in danger; he gits so quiet). Bill, he said, "we got to do it, Pardner, an' that ain't the worst of it. When we git near the bottom I gotta throw you an' we do a hounthair or whatever comes to, 'cause Lon Chaney—he's supposed to shoot you, in the story, an' you go down."

I didn't have a whole lot o' wind left, as I wuz climbin' or slippin' nearly straight up, but I said, "Say, Bill, why all the fussin' this? Why don't they shoot you once in a long, long while an' you fall off and let me be a hero an' run past the camera."

But we wuz up to the top now an' Bill said nuthin'. He just looked down an' I looked down, an' we only had to look past our toes in to do it. It wuz sure some nasty place. If you slipped you'd have to walk a mile to get back. But they wuz down below an' I shouted, "Come ahead! Come ahead!" I jumped, lit runnin' an' wuz off, an' I just kept my feet workin'—I didn't dare hit the ground heavy or I'd slide all over the place. We made it—more'n half-way an' then I got the cue on my right rein an' heard the boss say, "Now, Pardner, now, Pardner!" and we took it. Golly, golly, what a sensation we had. I wuz all over Bill and he wuz all over me. But no matter how tough we felt, it wuzn't in it with how we looked—leastwise how Bill looked after it wuz over. Couldn't talk myself out o' it—could I wouldn't talk about it now—if I looked anythin' like Bill did.

Gang Didn't Ride

An' then one o' the gang said, "now we can git that easy ride over in the flat, but Bill said, 'not this day, boys, this pony has done his day's work.' An' I reckon I had, too. I wuz limpin' just a little bit.

All this sounds easy—but it's no fun to tear straight down a hill on slippery mud an' then let go all holts an' fall an' have a man weighin' a hundred an' ninety pounds under you. I wuz all over me. But no matter how tough we felt, it wuzn't in it with how we looked—leastwise how Bill looked after it wuz over. Couldn't talk myself out o' it—could I wouldn't talk about it now—if I looked anythin' like Bill did.

Both men will receive substantial increases in salaries in their new positions.

The three teachers who are on a leave of absence are John J. Savage, who is studying in Harvard to secure a degree of Ph.D., Miss Mary E. Tobin, who is studying for the degree of A. M., and Miss Elizabeth Irish, who is doing advanced work in school administration and executive work.

60,000 SPANISH TROOPS MASSED FOR BATTLE

MELILLA, Morocco, Sept. 19. (By the Associated Press.)—The Spanish troops concentrated in the Melilla region for the operations against the rebellious Moroccan tribesmen number approximately 60,000. All branches of the service are rapidly becoming acclimated and settled to the hardships of campaigning. They also are becoming accustomed to the shields and bullets constantly falling within and without the city. Frequent night marches as supporting columns to supply parties, consisting mostly of members of the foreign legion and native troops, have instilled in the most recently arrived Spanish troops the necessity of alertness for fighting among the rocky and pathless hills.

For some days before the Spanish offensive began, the troops were anxious to advance, but this was delayed by General Berenguer, the high commissioner, until everything necessary to a successful advance was available. Munitions, tanks, airplanes, lorries, field and mountain guns and equipment of all kinds have been arriving daily in large quantities for some time. Virtually everything was ready when the advance was ordered.

LOPPY EXPLAINS

"GOODNESS" GASPED NANCY WHEN LOPPY'S VOICE CAME FROM THE ROCK.

"Goodness" gasped Nancy when Lorry's voice came out of the big gray rock beside them. "Who thought you were looking at us from your house in the sea-weed. Who was it then?"

Lorry was quiet a minute and then he said a chuckle. "What did the person look like?" he asked. "Was he green and very handsome?"

"He was green all right," said Nick. "But not very handsome. Very—He stopped. If Lorry's temper was as sharp as his claws it might be just as well not to disturb it."

"Handsome?" Lorry helped him out. "Why don't you say it? Well, hands, some is as handsome as you know, besides, I'm not sensitive. Another besides—why should I care if you think somebody else isn't handsome?"

Nick was just about to say that he supposed all lobsters looked alike, when he remembered his errand.

"I can't waste so much time talking," said he suddenly. "Cap'n Penny-

INDIAN WEATHER WIZARD SAYS "HEAP RAIN"

SEATTLE, Wash., Sept. 10.—"Pilechuk Julia," the aged, prophetic Indian woman who foretold the "two squaws snow" in the northwest two years ago, this fall is predicting a "four squaws rain" for the Pacific coast.

The "two squaws snow" turned out to be the heaviest blizzard the northwest had seen in many years. It blocked street cars and crushed in roofs, including the dome of a great cathedral.

The evening of the day she predicted the "four squaws rain," a few days ago, Seattle was visited by the heaviest drizzling of the season. A torrential storm flooded the streets, and old timers have predicted an unusually cold winter for 1921-22, but "Pilechuk Julia" says, "Not so cold, but drip-drip-drip. Heap much rain—four squaws rain—drip-drip-drip."

FIRES IN COMMON STREET

A defective kerosene stove started a fire that caused about $50 damage to the kitchen of the home occupied by Nicholas D. Saxones, 55 Common street, shortly before 6 o'clock last evening. The blaze was confined to the corner occupied by the stove and was extinguished in short order by the fire department.

USE OF MAIL BOXES

Mail boxes at the local postoffice must only be used by the person or business house authorized to do so and cannot be shared by several parties, according to a statement made by Superintendent of Mails Joseph P. McNeen today. It is said that persons holding a key to a box allow other parties, presumably friends, to direct their mail to that box, thereby causing much confusion and disobeying a strict rule of the postoffice department.

IN THE DISTRICT COURT

Assault and Battery—Unlawful Possession of Milk Bottles—Other Cases

Demetrius Antonian was before Judge Enright in the district court today and was fined $25, which he paid, for assault and battery on Markon Geladaria on the night of September 11. According to the testimony it was brought out that Demetrius left the Geladaria household, it was stated. On the night of September 11 he met Markon on the street, he told the court, and asked him to make him some payment for settlement of the debt he owed him. He stated Geladaria struck him besides refusing to pay him any money. He acted in self defense, he claimed. The plaintiff in his story to the judge stated that no argument preceded the assault, Antonian merely striking him on the face, knocking him down and kicking him in the legs and ribs. He required medical aid, he said.

Alfred Coutu, charged with assault and battery, was ordered to come to court tomorrow for trial and the case of David Stahl, also charged with assault and battery was continued to September 28.

John G. Conroy was before the court charged with unlawfully possessing registered milk bottles. His case was filed, although he was asked to pay costs. It was stated that he used bottles registered under another company's name. Counsel for the defendant told the court Conroy was new in the business and if given a chance intended to adhere to this rule strictly.

The case of William O'Loughlin, long on the court calendar, charged with larceny, was again postponed to September 22.

Joseph Tallier pleaded not guilty to the non-support of his wife and two children and after hearing the state's case the court ordered the case put over to next Saturday. Mrs. Tallier stated her husband gave her about $10 or $12 a week, not steady, however, and that she could not find that sufficient in which to provide for herself and children properly.

She also charged her husband with spending some of the money he earned for liquor. When the court reprimanded him for wasting the money he owed his family on drink and asked him why he didn't stop it, Tallier, through an interpreter replied that "his wife drove him to it."

A reaffirmation of the $150 fine imposed on James Giannopoulos by Judge Pickman last Saturday for unlawfully keeping liquor was made by Judge Enright this morning. The defendant had been allowed until yesterday in which to pay his assessment but failed to appear in court. He was declared defaulted and was brought to court today. He appealed from the fine and was ordered held on $300 bail for the superior court.

A larceny charge against Linwood D. Foster, an old case, was put over to next Saturday.

John Kerrigan, charged with drunkenness, who was in the auto truck towed by another vehicle which smashed into a tree on Westford street yesterday afternoon, came in for a severe reprimand by the court, after which his case was filed. Judge Enright told him to consider himself lucky in view of the fact that legally he could not be held for operating while under the influence of liquor as he was being towed by another machine.

William R. O'Brien appealed a two months' sentence to the house of correction for drunkenness. This was his third offense and the second appeal he has now before the superior court for the same charge.

It cost Thomas Lyden $10 to get drunk last night, it being his third offense.

BODY OF PRIV. GILLIS ARRIVES HOME

The body of Priv. Edward T. Gillis, who died in France in 1918, which had been expected here for the past two weeks, arrived this morning and was taken to the funeral parlors of Undertakers James F. The funeral will take place Sunday afternoon from the home of his parents, 55 Pleasant street, and will be attended by delegations from the various organizations of which deceased was a member. Plans for the funeral have been under way by the different societies since word was first received to the effect that the body had reached New York. The time of the funeral will be announced later.

FUNERALS

CONSTANTINEAU—The funeral of Napoleon C. Constantineau took place this morning from his home, 15 London street, at 8:30 o'clock and was largely attended. At the Sacred Heart church a funeral high mass of requiem was celebrated by Rev. Leo V. Smith of Rochester, N. Y., a nephew of Mrs. Constantineau, at 9 o'clock. The choir sang the Gregorian mass, the solo being sustained by Harold White and Mrs. Philip Mooney, assisted by the sanctuary choir. Mr. John Constantineau, brother of the deceased, presided at the organ. Seated within the sanctuary were Rev. John P. Flynn, O.M.I., pastor of the Sacred Heart church. There were many beautiful floral tributes as well as many spiritual bouquets. The bearers were Messrs. Frank Hendricks, Lou Haley, Thomas Cullinan and William Barrows. Burial took place in the family lot in St. Patrick's cemetery where Rev. Bernard Fletcher, O.M.I., read the committal prayers assisted by Rev. Leo V. Smith at the grave. The funeral was in charge of Undertaker William A. Mack.

CARD OF THANKS

We wish to thank our neighbors and friends for the many kindly deeds, messages of sympathy and floral offerings during the time of the sickness and death of our beloved wife and sister.

GEORGE WESLEY, MRS. MARY STEVENS, MRS. T. HOWARTH, MRS. JENNIE DELDERFIELD, MR. J. W. HOWARTH.

Coal Miners Fight Wage Cuts

Electric Light company office yesterday afternoon. At the request of counsel, the case was put over to September 30, bail being set at $1000.

Fine, who had a set of number plates concealed between the back of his shirt and coat, hesitated a large amount of keys in his possession when taken to the station, was arrested at East Chelmsford at 2 o'clock yesterday afternoon by Officer Small, after he had collided with a refuse wagon and pitched the automobile through a fence, narrowly averting squarely striking a telegraph pole from a position nearly across the street from the police station about a half-hour before. Mr. Fuller immediately reporting the larceny to the police. The car, badly smashed, was returned to the owner.

This morning, police officers investigating the man's identity and record located a room he is alleged to have been occupying on Market street, where they found about a dozen cats, and other small wearing effects. The police are of the opinion the greater part of this is stolen mail.

Several of the bills evidently came from tailor or repair shops as they are unsigned, the bastings still showing in the cloth.

The suits have various trade marks and several show the name of Boston clothing houses. A brown soft hat bore the name of a Lowell concern. A representative of the district attorney, who had been summoned by the police, identified the hat, but said it had evidently been purchased.

FIRST ROUND OF MATCH PLAY

ST. LOUIS, Sept. 20.—(By the Associated Press).—The first round of match play for the national amateur golf championship was played today over the links of the St. Louis Country club, after the contest had been reduced to 32 by Saturday's elimination round and yesterday's 36 hole qualifications in which Francis Ouimet had the low medal score of 144, tying the previous record for the event. The highest score to remain in the play was 162, with two tied for last place with 172.

NO MORE ROOM AT VOCATIONAL SCHOOL

One hundred Lowell boys and girls who are eager to take up some line of industrial education find the doors of the Lowell Vocational school absolutely barred to them simply because of lack of room.

According to Principal Thomas E. Fisher head of the school, there are now 70 boys and 30 girls on his waiting list, seeking admission to the school and waiting until the municipal authorities can devise some ways or means to provide additional space.

"We are crammed to the limit," said Mr. Fisher this noon, "and I don't know what we can do about it. We haven't an inch of space around the boys' school to put up even a portable building and it looks as though the city might have to erect a house on one of the neighboring canals to accommodate us. Not only are we short of room but we need additional teachers as well."

It will be remembered that it was less than a year ago that the students at the Boys' Vocational school moved into a spacious addition erected by the city, but now every inch of space in that building is being utilized, so rapidly have the classes grown. There are 212 boys at the school now and 145 girls at the Girls' Vocational school in Common street. Mr. Fisher has been forced to limit incoming students to graduates of grammar schools. The crowded conditions at the school have been reported to Supl. Hugh Mooney and will probably come before the school board for consideration at its meeting a week from tonight.

Municipal Council

brought the matter up simply to keep it before the council.

The council transacted a large amount of routine business at this morning's session. All members were present when the mayor called to order at 10:10.

The following petitions were referred to Commissioner Murphy: Esplanade, at all, that an electric light be placed in Hale street at M. J. Miller, et al., that an electric light be placed in Garden road, and Edwin Demers, that a concrete sidewalk be laid at 755 Lakeview avenue.

The petition of Hormisdas Heroux for a license to manufacture sausage was referred to the mayor and board of health.

Agent Francis J. O'Hare of the health department reported that the petition of Bertha G. Ward, asking that the department discontinue dumping refuse at the foot of Shawmut avenue, had been complied with.

The petition of Esther Gerson for additional protection in Hale street was referred to the mayor.

On recommendation of Commissioners Murphy and Marchand, the New England Telephone and Telegraph Co. was given leave to withdraw its petition for a pole location at 35 May street.

The New England Telephone and Telegraph Co., the Postal Telegraph and the Lowell Electric Light corporation were given permission to erect light poles in Varnum avenue.

The petition of the Lowell Electric Light corporation for pole locations in Howard and Webster streets, and to abandon one pole at Chelmsford and Grand streets were referred for hearings October 4.

Mayor Thompson was granted permission to have the police box now located at the junction of Fletcher and Chelmsford streets transferred a few feet so as not to interfere with the entrance to the Quimby property.

Approval was given a requisition from the police department for half a mile of wire cable to cost between $150 and $200.

Two bills from Frank A. Mallory, one of $171.11 for edgelines and another of $125.32 for paving blocks, together with a bill of $42.59 from McNabb Bros. for laundry for the fire department were approved.

An order was adopted granting the Lowell Electric Light corporation permission to abandon one pole in A street, near Chelmsford.

The petition of Robert M. Dempsey, et al., that the gas light now located at the junction of Fourth avenue and Endicott street be replaced in a different location by an electric light was referred to Commissioner Murphy.

After favorable reports from Commissioner Murphy, the following orders were adopted: To lay a sewer in Maryland avenue for a distance of 150 feet westerly at a cost of $4503, to lay a sewer in Montague avenue at a cost of $2510, to lay a sewer in Mort avenue at a cost of $4510, to lay a sewer in Ray court at a cost of $1650, and to lay a sewer in Chelmsford street for a distance of 60 feet from the present sewer at a cost of $3550.

Adjourned at 11:07 until next Tuesday at 10 a. m.

leged assault and larceny, Almeida spoke so rapidly and confusingly, answering questions of lawyers for both sides before they were actually asked, that it required a judge and court clerk to keep the court from several times following laughter that could not be restrained by anybody watching and listening to the plaintiff in the witness stand.

A funny situation was reached when Almeida tried to show the court and jury a certain "fat man," who he said was in the room and whom he accused of helping conduct a personal search that Santos and his friends made on him, thereby "biting" the 55 man who was the subject of pointing to this "fat man" referred to apparently failed. Almeida having aimed his finger at a score of "fat men" who were present in the room, the court ordered him to be led from the stand, and go to where the man he had in mind was sitting. This he did and then returned to the stand to resume his testimony of the man-handling which he said he was subjected to by Santos and his legion, during which he was robbed of a knife and $5, he claimed. The knife mattered little, it seemed, as all he wanted was the money.

The two witnesses who followed Almeida also proved of the comical variety and afforded the lawyers, officers and spectators a good laugh.

Santos on the stand, stated that he ordered Almeida to pay him a dollar and a half he owed him, but that in reply to his request he was shown an open knife clenched in the plaintiff's right hand and told: "I'll pay you with this." Here, the defendant admitted striking Almeida, to protect himself from being cut by the knife. He admitted pulling his hands in Almeida's pockets and with stealing $5 from him. Several witnesses corroborated the story told by Santos.

WALTER E. GUYETTE—Auctioneer

Office, 33 Central St., Lowell, Mass. Telephone 2416.

THE FOUR-STORY DWELLING CONTAINING EIGHT TENEMENTS, AND THE TWO-STORY BLACKSMITH SHOP, AND ABOUT 1050 SQUARE FEET OF LAND SITUATED AT NOS. 10, 12 AND 14 WARD STREET, LOWELL, MASS., IS HEREBY PLEDGED TO THE HIGHEST BONA FIDE BIDDERS AT UNRESTRICTED PUBLIC SALE, ON NEXT WEDNESDAY, SEPTEMBER 21, 1921, AT 3 O'CLOCK IN THE AFTERNOON.

The building consists of a block of eight tenements of four and five rooms and separate toilet, city water and gas to each. The tenements are in very good order, and with the exception of two flats, the building is entirely rented to an exceptionally nice class of tenants, some of whom have occupied the same premises for a considerable number of years. The cellar is high posted, is light and is divided for each family.

The blacksmith shop is a two-story structure and is rented, the tenant occupying the same for a considerable period. The premises have at present an actual rental of $104 per year, and the entire property, if sold, would yield a revenue of $1300 per year, the tenements renting for $250 per week each and the blacksmith shop yielding $500 per week.

The property has in the past been fully occupied and can be made, with a little extra labor and an extra room, a high grade industrial building.

Its location in the very center of industry, within three minutes actual and comfortable walking distance of Northmain street, and also within easy and comfortable walking distance to all interests, should be assurance to an investor who will properly manage the property, of a continuous and steady rental.

TERMS: $500 must be deposited with the auctioneer just as soon as the property is struck off. Other terms made known at sale. By order of

ESTATE OF JOHN AND NELLIE OLANSON AT NOS. 34-37 BROOKSIDE STREET, DRACUT, NAVY YARD, DIRECTLY OPPOSITE HEAVY BRICK MILLS, IS HEREBY PLEDGED TO THE HIGHEST BONA FIDE BIDDERS AT UNRESTRICTED PUBLIC SALE, ON NEXT SATURDAY, SEPTEMBER 24, 1921, AT 2:30 O'CLOCK P. M.

The estate consists of a two-story two-tenement house of five rooms, and separate toilet and town water to each, rented at $250 and $300 per week each respectively, on a lot area of about 15,000 square feet, at No. 37 Brookside street, and a cottage house of five rooms and toilet and town water, rented at $250 per week on a lot area of 5000 square feet, more or less, at No. 34 Brookside street. The two parcels are to be sold in one lot to the highest bona fide bidder.

The property is situated on an annual income of $115.00 per year, and the fact of the sale comprising two buildings containing three tenements. It presents an unusual opportunity to an owner for either a home or an investment, as the owner could occupy one and have income from the remaining two, and the income sufficient to pay the entire carrying charges on the entire estate.

The location of the premises is handy to the factories and within a step of the Lakeview avenue electric car line. The lot totalling practically half an acre, gives ample garden space for each and all the tenants.

With its revenue established, and the property given proper care and management, it should make an extremely attractive investment, as the carrying charges are low in comparison with its annual return.

TERMS: $250.00 must be deposited with the auctioneer just as soon as the property is struck off. Other terms made known at sale. By order of

THE COTTAGE HOUSE AND ABOUT 2300 SQUARE FEET OF LAND AT NO. 2 EXCHANGE PLACE, CORNER OF MEADOWCROFT STREET, TO BE SOLD TO THE HIGHEST BONA FIDE BIDDERS AT ABSOLUTE AND UNRESTRICTED PUBLIC SALE, ON NEXT SATURDAY, SEPTEMBER 24, 1921, AT 4 O'CLOCK P. M.

The premises consist of the full size cottage type, having nine rooms and toilet, sink-room with city water, sewerage, electric lights, open plumbing, etc. On the first floor there are reception hall, parlor, living room, kitchen, chamber, toilet and sink-room, and on the second floor are five well lighted and airy chambers. The house is supplied with electric lights throughout, being turned on by a switch, has open plumbing, has hardwood floors in part, is well constructed, has an extraordinary supply of closet room, has piazzas front and rear. The cellar is high posted and well lighted.

The house has a frontage on Exchange Place of 54 1/2 feet, and a frontage on Meadowcroft street of about 62 1/2 feet, making a combined frontage of two streets of about 117 feet, and the fact that the same is situated on a corner gives it much added value. The premises are in very good order, and at present are vacant, assuming a purchaser of immediate occupancy.

The location within four minutes' comfortable walking distance of Moore street, and within ten minutes' easy walking distance of the Graham street electric car line, hardly to numerous industries, and in a locality where about every one owns his own home, should make the sale especially attractive to the many many home seekers. With this sale ordered at public auction, the conditions are presented to secure a home in a location where property is in constant demand and is very seldom offered.

TERMS: $200.00 must be deposited with the auctioneer just as soon as the property is struck off. Other terms made known at sale. By order of

J. HENRY GILBRIDE, Attorney.

BIG INCREASE NOTED

Public School Attendance for First Week Exceeds 1920 Figure by 400

An increase of 415 pupils in the first week attendance in the Lowell public schools is noted by the figures announced by the school department today for 1921 as compared with 1920.

The complete enrollment in the schools this year is 12,321, while last year the total for the first week was 11,903. There have been increases at the high school and in the grammar schools. The primary schools have shown a considerable drop owing to the introduction of the junior high school system and the consequent requirement that children must be older than formerly to enter the primary schools.

This year there are 2004 students at the high school. Last year there were 1670. This year there are 6091 pupils in the grammar schools as against 5503 last year. The primary

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., Sept. 20.—No wage reduction of coal miners must be permitted and all resources of the miners' union must be made available to back up the policy in opposition to wage cuts, John L. Lewis, president of the United Mine Workers of America, declared here today, in his report made at the opening of the biennial convention of the international union.

He also recommended a postponement until next February of the miners' adoption of definite wage demands and declared that with all wage agreements expiring on March 31, 1922, "the full influence and economic power of our great membership may thus be utilized to the advantage of our people for the achievement of our ideals."

WASHINGTON, Sept. 20.—Secretary Weeks refused today to make any comment on published reports that Brig. Gen. The war secretary indicated that the whole situation relative to the air service was still unsettled. There appeared to be reason to believe that General Mitchell was prepared to step aside should war department officials feel that a change in his post was desirable.

Commissioner Dennis A. Murphy of the street department threw a bombshell into this morning's meeting of the municipal council when he moved that the council urge Governor Cox to take the necessary steps to have the civil service laws, insofar as they pertain to laborers in the employ of the city of Lowell, suspended for a period of at least three months. The council voted unanimously to have Mayor Thompson write to the governor requesting him to take this drastic step as one of the means of relieving the unemployment situation here.

As far as is known, Lowell is the first city to make such a move since the civil service laws were first enacted. For some time past there has been more or less dissatisfaction with their operation here but the dissatisfaction has never reached a point where it has been proposed to suspend them.

Mr. Murphy's motion came after Mayor Thompson had read a letter from Smith J. Adams, urging the appointment of a committee of ten citizens to look into the unemployment situation here, and another letter from Governor Cox, asking for suggestions as to the steps that might be taken to bring about relief. Mayor Thompson then asked if any members of the council had any suggestions to offer. Immediately, Commissioner Murphy launched upon a 15-minute discussion of the question, ending finally by making the motion already referred to.

"I was called into the district attorney's office yesterday," said the commissioner, "to show reason why I should not be prosecuted for illegally employing men. During my conference with Mr. Goldberg, the assistant attorney, Mr. Dana, the head of the civil service commission, was sent for. He accused me of a series of criminal offenses, dating back to December 17, 1920. He told Mr. Goldberg that the most serious offense was punishable by a stiff fine. He characterized me as the most serious offender against the civil service laws in the commonwealth."

"I told Mr. Dana that I was not a criminal offender. He replied that he had nothing further to say, that his department had washed its hands of me and that the next step was up to the prosecuting department of the state—the district attorney's office."

"When Mr. Dana had finished he

FEARING BLOODSHED, CALLS OFF "SALE"

NEW YORK, Sept. 20.—Blocked by phalanxes of police reserves in his plans to feed and later "sell" members of New York's jobless army at a "salvage auction" last night, Urban Ledoux remained in retirement today.

Fear that further clashes with the police would result in bloodshed and possible loss of life, he said, prompted him to call off all plans contemplating any further assemblage of the unemployed.

"I do not want trouble," said Ledoux. "I am trying to avoid it."

Ledoux called off his proposed auction yesterday afternoon.

Nevertheless several hundred of the unemployed men and thousands of curious spectators were on hand at Bryant park, at 11 p. m., the hour originally set for the auction. Police reserves struggled with the crowd for more than an hour, wading nightsticks on recalcitrants before they were able to restore anything resembling order.

Ledoux announced today that he would appear in a few days at a community center at St. Mark's in the Bowery operating barbershop, cobbler shop and clothing repair departments to help the jobless make themselves more presentable in their quest for work.

CHILDREN INJURED IN AUTO ACCIDENTS

Paul Muldoon, aged 6 years and residing at 75 Chapel street had a narrow escape from serious injuries yesterday when he was struck by an automobile in Gorham street. The little fellow, so it is claimed, ran into the path of a machine operated by John E. Finner, of Boston road, Billerica, and was struck in such a way that he fell under the car. It is not believed, however, that the wheels of the machine passed over his body. The little fellow was rushed to St. John's hospital where it was found that he was suffering from injuries to his head and legs. An X-ray picture of his injuries was taken and then the boy was allowed to go to his home.

Clarence Hoyt, a boy residing at 10 Belmont street, received an injury to his hip late yesterday afternoon when he was struck by an automobile. The accident occurred in Gorham street, while the machine, a parcel post car owned by Uncle Sam and operated by C. P. Lynch, was backing out of a garage. It seems that the Hoyt boy was rolling a hoop and ran into the path of the auto. He was treated at St. John's hospital.

George Desrosiers, aged 7 years and residing at 122 Encliff street, was struck by an automobile at the corner of Central and Middlesex streets yesterday afternoon. The little fellow was taken by the operator of the machine, Rolt Bradbury of North Acton, to St. John's hospital, where it was found that he was not injured.

Bessie Nannals, of 127 Howard street received slight injuries to her side when she was struck by an automobile yesterday. The accident occurred at the corner of Middlesex and Theodike streets. The operator of the machine being James C. Ralls of 370 Market street.

At this morning's session of the probate court held in this city with Justice John W. Leggat on the bench, the following wills were allowed: George W. Butler, Lowell; Andrew J. Gibson, Danvers; George S. Bagbee, Lowell; Sarah L. Spaulding, Lowell; Marshall C. Curtis, Tyngham; James D. Foote, Lowell; Warren B. Chamberlain, Carlisle; and Sidney H. Stevens, Chelmsford.

NEW YORK, Sept. 19.—The enveloping evening coat offers a variety of lines as well as materials this season. The ultra-evening, light colored effect is achieved in the handsome, lace brocade pussy willow satin wrap shown here on the left. It has the blouse back, so popular this year.

A warm, luxurious wrap from E. J. Wile is of Sorrento blue velvet. Its chief note of novelty lies in huge fur cuffs and an immense shawl collar of gray squirrel, reaching to the bottom of the enveloping wrap. Another evening wrap shown here is a Franklin Simon import. It brings vividness and gorgeousness of color.

It is of orange velvet with an unusual back panel of gold-brocaded tissue. This wrap has a deep collar of ostrich, shading from yellow into orange.

EARLY MORNING FIRE

The alarm from box 2-6 at 12:22 o'clock this morning, was for a blaze in the home of Frank J. Santo, 8 Cedar court. The fire was caused by a defective chimney and when the firemen reached the premises, the blaze was working its way through the partitions. The fire was put out before any serious damage was caused. As soon as the fire was discovered, Mr. and Mrs. Santo and their children made a quick exit, as the dense smoke was threatening to suffocate them.

ST. RAILWAY WILL ISSUE EIGHT-RIDE TICKET

As an accommodation to patrons of the Eastern Massachusetts Street Railway Co. who find it inconvenient to invest $1 in the reduced rate tickets sold by the company, the public trustees have notified Mayor Perry D. Thompson and John B. Curtin, secretary of the home rule committee, that beginning Sept. 26, next Monday, 50-cent eight-ride tickets will be sold here. The tickets will be good on all central zone lines in the Lowell district.

There will be no rebate on the eight-ride tickets. The new system will reduce the cost of a ride from 6 1-3 cents to 6 1-4 cents. The letter which was sent to the mayor and Secretary Curtin reads as follows:

September 19, 1921.
Hon. Perry D. Thompson, Mayor,
Lowell, Mass.

My dear Mr. Mayor:

Upon recommendation of Manager Thomas Lues the public trustees have decided to put into effect experimentally a 50c punch card, 8-ride, no-rebate ticket, good on the single central zone lines in the Lowell district on and after September 26th.

Frankly, we wish to say we do not know how the experiment will work out, but the car riders may be assured that it will be given a good fair trial.

The purpose is to make it easier financially for people to ride on the cars, especially during this period of industrial depression when a single investment of $1 for a car ticket is more difficult than when business conditions were good and there was more money in circulation.

This 15 ride $1 ticket with 5c rebate will be continued for use on lines running outside the central zones, where most passengers pay fares by two punches of the ticket.

Yours truly,
HOMER LORING,
Chairman of Public Trustees.

Would Frame Miss Joyce

United States district attorney for the prosecution for liquor cases, said he would not seek indictments at this time, but would wait until other federal officials have completed investigations now going on.

At the resumption of the investigation by the grand jury last night, Dr. Runwell, physician to Miss Joyce during her fatal illness, was called to explain why an autopsy had been performed following her death without request being made by county officials, as required by law.

Miss Joyce Clark and Reggy Morely and Dr. Gabor Kingstone were sent out by District Attorney Brady said, in connection with a report intimating possible financial interest of witnesses in the trial.

At the conclusion of the session, District Attorney Brady issued a statement in which he declared that it has been disclosed that these three witnesses had discussed the probability of "making money" out of the Arbuckle case by "framing" Miss Joyce Clark to impeach the testimony of Miss Zola Prevost, a most important prosecution witness.

Arbuckle Reunited

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 20.—Roscoe "Bart" Arbuckle and the wife from whom he has been separated for more than four years, had a reunion yesterday in the visitors' room at the city prison, where Arbuckle is awaiting trial on a murder charge. He is accused of causing the death of Miss Virginia Rapp at a drinking party in his suite at a hotel here.

Arbuckle clasped Mrs. Minta Durfee Arbuckle in his arms, then affectionately greeted her mother, Mrs. Flora Durfee. The three, with the prisoner's brother, A. L. Arbuckle of San Francisco, then sat down for a half hour of conversation.

The grand jury resumed its investigation of the Arbuckle affair last night, subpoenas having been sent out for Dr. M. E. Runwell, the attending physician in most of Miss Rapp's illness, Miss Joyce Clark, a participant in the hotel party, Dr. Gabor Kingstone and Reginald Morely, two men who were reported to have some knowledge of the affair, and several other witnesses.

Miss Clark was questioned by District Attorney Matthew A. Brady yesterday, but declined to sign a statement and accordingly was ordered to appear before the grand jury.

Lowell Sherman, of Los Angeles, also subpoenaed, is en route to Chicago, Brady said, and no legal means exist to bring him back. Sherman was an occupant of the Arbuckle suite and was present at the party from which the death of Miss Rapp resulted.

Urge Gov. Cox to Suspend Civil Service Laws

Continued

turned on his heel and left the office. Mr. Goldberg then suggested that I discharge at once all the men in the department who were not taken from the civil service list. I said I could not do it right away, but I promised to get through with every man not properly certified by next Saturday noon. I further promised to make an effort to get all future help I need from the civil service authorities. Tomorrow I will send down for the number of men whom I shall need to go to work next Monday morning.

Mr. Murphy's Remedy

"In his letter to the mayor, Governor Cox asks for suggestions as to what can be done to relieve the unemployment situation. One of the best remedies I know would be to abolish the civil service regulations insofar as they pertain to laborers employed by the city of Lowell. By so doing we shall be able to accommodate the men most worthy of assistance, the men for whom charitable organizations, the clergy and the probation officer have interceded but whom we have been unable to help under civil service regulations. I would suggest that you notify the governor to this effect and ask him to have the civil service regulations abolished for a period of at least three months. If he succeeds in doing that, he will have done a wonderful thing for the unemployed."

Referring to Mr. Adams' letter, suggesting the appointment of a committee of men to look into the unemployment situation, Mr. Murphy said that he thought such a committee was not needed at present, but perhaps it would be a good thing to prevent people from saying that men were given work simply for political reasons.

It was finally voted to have the mayor write to the governor conveying the suggestion which Mr. Murphy had made.

Mayor Thompson said that he felt the council had already done much to relieve the unemployment situation here. Loans have been negotiated

Fine Provided by Statutes

Continued

It would be possible to exact the fine in the case of each of the 299 men. Faced with the alternative of paying a fine ranging from $20,000 to $209,000, Commissioner Murphy decided that discretion was the better part of valor and agreed to notify the men at once of their discharge.

The letter sent to Commissioner Murphy by Mr. Goldberg reads:

PASTOR INVENTS WAITERLESS RESTAURANT

INTERIOR OF THE WAITERLESS RESTAURANT AT ST. LOUIS

A step beyond the cafeteria is the waiterless and waitress restaurant invented and conducted by Rev. J. M. Batinger of St. Paul, Minn.

The invention consists of an oval counter with an endless belt on which are carried 87 little cars on wheels. Each car carries food or table ware and runs within easy reach of the patrons seated alongside the counter. The cars are either heated or ice-cooled, according to whether they contain cooked foods or those in need of cooling.

Patrons pay 50 cents admission to the restaurant and then may eat all they want. The only exception are pie and ice cream. A sign warns that a fine of 15 cents will be charged for each extra portion of pie or ice cream.

Former Lowell Boy, Killed in Argonne Forest, Buried in Keeseville, N. Y.

(Special to The Sun)

SCHENECTADY, N. Y., Sept. 20.—The body of Private Lester J. Rowe, son of Mrs. Mary L. Rowe of 208 Fourth avenue this city, and a native of Lowell, Mass., where he was born and received his preliminary education, has arrived from France and the remains have been sent to Keeseville, N. Y., for burial, after a service in St. John's church and the exercises by the American Legion post at the cemetery, where Private Rowe will be afforded full military honors.

Private Rowe was one of the first Schenectady boys to offer his service to the country, enlisting early in 1917. He went overseas in July, 1918, with C company, 15th Infantry, 5th Division, and was killed in action in the Argonne forest October 14th of the same year. When Private Rowe moved from Lowell his family went to Keeseville, where they lived until thirteen years ago when they came to Schenectady. Prior to entering the service Mr. Rowe was in the employ of the General Electric Co. He was formerly a member of St. Thomas' church in Mount Pleasant. He leaves, besides his mother, one brother, Walter, of Schenectady, and our uncles, John, Peter, Henry and George Bonville, also of Schenectady.

MOTHER-IN-LAW HID UNDER HER BED

WORCESTER, Sept. 20.—The married life of Stavre S. Soter, prominent Worcester merchant, and his wife, Gilbert A. Soter, might have been happy enough were it not for Stavre's stepmother, according to Mrs. Soter in the divorce court before Judge Philip J. O'Connell yesterday.

She sought a divorce on the grounds of cruel and abusive treatment, and this sort of treatment, she testified, resulted from her protesting to her husband of the actions of his stepmother.

"One night," said she, "the stepmother actually remained under our bed throughout the night. To fool us she made an effigy of herself and placed it in her bed. Then she went to our room when we were out and got under the bed. We found her there in the morning when we got up. Another morning we arose quite early and found her sleeping outside our door."

Judge O'Connell took the case under consideration.

GETS LIFE TERM FOR THIRD TIME IN 4 YEARS

POINT PLEASANT, W. Va., Sept. 20.—For the third time within four years W. L. (Holly) Griffith has been sentenced to life imprisonment in the penitentiary at Moundsville.

Griffith, who was serving a life term after being convicted of murder, escaped from the state prison early in January of this year. The night he escaped another prisoner was killed and when captured Griffith was tried and adjudged guilty in connection with his death. The second life sentence was passed upon him at that time.

In the last case the prosecution contended that Griffith, after his escape, came to this region and killed Ira Roush, a scold of guilty of first degree murder, was returned and Judge O'Brien pronounced the life sentence.

BIENNIAL CONVENTION OF MINE WORKERS

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., Sept. 20.—Delegates from the United States and Canada assembled here today for the opening of the biennial convention of the United Mine Workers of America, which is to consider many important questions affecting the coal industry during the next fortnight.

Organized preliminaries, including the ceremonies of welcome, occupied the opening program but in the afternoon President John L. Lewis expected to present his report.

Consideration of the wage question, unemployment, the employment of foreigners in the mines and nationalization of the mines said among the more important questions expected to come before the convention.

ISSUES WARNING ON "HOME BREW"

WASHINGTON, Sept. 20.—Warning that the making of intoxicating "home brew" is illegal was issued last night by Prohibition Commissioner Haynes. Numerous inquiries have been received recently, he said, concerning the home manufacture of fruit juices growing out of reports that a head of a household was entitled to make 200 gallons of wine a year under permit.

The prohibition unit's attitude on the home brew question was defined by Mr. Haynes as follows: "Non-intoxicating fruit juice can be made in the home. Intoxicating wine, home brew and distilled spirits may not be made. Two hundred gallons of non-intoxicating fruit juice may be manufactured tax free by the head of a family registered with a collector of internal revenue.

"This tax exemption provision has been the source of confusion. The effect of this is not to allow the manufacture of 200 gallons of intoxicating wine free from restrictions of the national prohibition act, but merely to allow the manufacture of 200 gallons of non-intoxicating fruit juices free of tax."

NO MAGIC ABOUT MAKING YOUR SKIN SMOOTH

BY MME. MOREAU

PARIS, Sept. 20.—No, you simply shouldn't be content with rough, ugly skin! No girl should—but there isn't any magic about the acquiring of a finer one.

The route to nice skin is one which takes several weeks, even months, to cover. And olive oil—real olive oil—will be your prime assistant.

Before retiring, wash your hands in hot water and after drying, them while the fingers are still warm and soft, dip them in olive oil and either it over your face. Don't rub it in! And don't rub it off!

Simply cover the skin with a very gentle pressure. Really, rubbing should be avoided since it often injures the sensitive glands and induces disagreeable blemishes.

Olive oil is the basis of a very fine face cream, excellent for these winter days. Just ahead, and you can fix your own. Get some ordinary toilet cream, the unscented sort which you can buy in plain jars, and mix it with equal parts of olive oil and almond oil.

Cream it together in a small bowl, adding the oils drop by drop, and working them into the cream. It will finally become a very smooth mass not unlike mayonnaise in texture.

Then put it in a little jar and keep covered while not in use. Only a small quantity of this should be made at a time for it will not keep long.

This is a good preventive for chapping and makes an excellent base for powder during the winter months.

FORESTRY ASSOCIATION

Drive to Enroll Business Firms Is Making Rapid Strides Here

A campaign has been started in Lowell for the purpose of enrolling local business firms in the Massachusetts Forestry Association and under the direction of James C. Hall, local representative of the association, the drive is making rapid strides. The fact that the lumber and wood supply vitally affects practically every line of business is given as the reason for the campaign. In a pamphlet issued by the association the reasons why business men should back the organization are given in detail as follows:

1. Eighty per cent. of the lumber used in Massachusetts is imported, mainly from Canada, the south, and Pacific coast. It costs more for freight alone on lumber costs there, and more than it would cost to grow white pine here. Even the railroads are bringing ties here from the Pacific coast.

2. Our industries, especially the wood-using ones, are handicapped because of this scarcity of raw material and some are leaving the state.

3. One-fifth of Massachusetts or 500,000 acres, is classed as waste land. It has produced timber in the past and will do so again if put to work.

4. If this land was covered with forests it would furnish permanent employment to more than 20,000 men and support a population of 100,000. Today it is equivalent to a desert, producing nothing for its owners nor for the commonwealth in taxes.

5. State and town forests established on these idle lands would create small wood-using industries in scenes of communities which are now being deserted and the farms abandoned. They would furnish an outlet for labor in periods of unemployment.

6. We are facing a timber shortage in this country, and lack of timber means higher costs for dwelling and other buildings, higher rents and higher taxes. Every one uses wood in some form; therefore every one will be affected.

Harold L. Chaffoux, president of the Lowell chamber of commerce, has endorsed the campaign and office space has been given the campaign director at the chamber's rooms. Among the active members of the association who live in Lowell are the following:

Edward D. Carney, 15 Shattuck street; Arthur T. Safford, 66 Broadway; H. W. Farrell, 53 Myrtle street; Frederick N. Wier, 42 Elmwood street; Middlesex Women's club, Miss J. T. MONTHLY REPORT OF THE LOWELL GUILD

The Lowell Guild has closed the summer's work with three of the busiest months' work in its existence. Have you noticed the reduction in the infant mortality rate in this city lately?

The figures are at least gratifying and have been helped by the free baby clinics and the conscientious work of the baby welfare nurses.

Extra nurses have been added to the staff, and the rooms are crowded to their limit.

Superintendent's report for June, July and August is as follows: Baby hygiene department—Total number of free calls 502, number of babies 822, number of free clinics 47. Total attendance at clinics 1522.

Nationalities of new patients, Americans 165, foreigners 136.

District nursing department—Total number of visits 3556, number of patients 630, number of metropolitan patients 215. Total number of metropolitan visits 1529.

BALDNESS MOSTLY DUE TO DANDRUFF

BY DR. R. H. BISHOP

Most cases of baldness are due to dandruff. Dandruff is a parasitic disease of the scalp. It is believed that the parasites that produce this disease grow down into the cylinder-like depressions at the roots of the hairs and cause the loss of the hair.

There are two forms of the disease. The first is attended with a greater or less amount of scaling or crusts and with drying of the scalp. In the second form the scales unite with oil from the scalp and form a crust over the head that is removed with difficulty. This is the form that usually causes baldness.

Experiments have proved that dandruff is "catching." An ointment was made from the scales of a man's head and rubbed into the backs of guinea pigs. The pigs contracted the disease and lost their hair.

Dandruff often is spread by promiscuous use of the comb and brush. As in the case of individual toothbrushes, each member in the family should have his own comb and brush and allow no one else to use them.

Besides infection from the brush and comb, debility, constipation, other conditions that undermine the health are constant causes of falling hair.

As baldness increases, dandruff lessens. The disease is one of early life, coming usually between the twentieth and thirtieth years. Both sexes lose their hair from dandruff though women rarely become bald.

Heredit also has something to do with baldness. One does not inherit baldness, but an individual often inherits a weak-muscled scalp—one that easily falls a victim to baldness.

With men the shape of the hair has much to do with the shedding of their hair. Stiff hats should be blocked to the exact shape of the owner's head so that it will not press too tightly at any one spot and thus stop the flow of blood to the scalp.

Massage of the scalp is effective in preventing baldness. It must be done at least once a day and two or three times daily will do no harm.

The following is a good method: Grasp the scalp with the open hand and with firm pressure endeavor to gather up a handful of scalp in a bunch. Use first one hand for a few minutes, then the other. Keep it up systematically, going over the scalp thoroughly until the skin is in a warm glow. This done vigorously for five minutes at a time will soon strengthen the scalp muscles and open up the tiny cylinder-shaped holes through which the tiny hairs can grow. Tincture of green soap should be used to wash the hair.

SALVAGE GRAPE JUICE INDUSTRY WASTE

Grape stems and pomace, waste from the grape juice industry, may now be salvaged for useful purposes by a process evolved by the Bureau of Plant Industry, U. S. department of Agriculture.

Crucial of tartar is extracted from the stems, jelly from the skins and oil from the seeds.

The stems are boiled and the water extract is run off. This is concentrated by atmospheric pressure or by use of a vacuum pan to the consistency of a thick syrup. After standing undisturbed this extract deposits a cream of tartar amounting to 2 per cent. of the volume of the stems.

After the grape pomace is subjected to a Arctic process, the skins and seeds are extracted and separated. The grape skins are steam boiled in a water bath from 16 to 18 minutes. The resultant mass is then subjected to hydraulic pressure, like that for extracting color from apples. One pound of wet skins yield three eighths of a pound of jelly.

The oil extracted from grape seeds is used as an emulsifier in soap, paint and varnish. The pressure method, using an expeller type of press, is the most economical way of transforming the grape seeds into oil.

The seeds are fed into a hopper where a horizontal rotating screw conveys them forward and subjects them to a squeezing process over a cone in a horizontal barrel.

Oil drips from openings in the barrel, while the residue is discharged from the throat of the barrel. More than 30 tons of oil are derived from 1000 tons of seed.

Commissioner Denials A. Murphy held hearings on a large number of street and sewer petitions in his office in city hall last evening. All of the petitions were heard without remonstrance with the exception of that of James C. Dick and others for a sewer in North avenue. This was opposed by Mrs. William E. Keizer of 27 Mori avenue. Mrs. Keizer has a private sewage system connecting with the Lincoln street sewer. She felt that if the city is to make an extension in Beacon street it should take over the Beacon branch and make an allowance on the cost of new construction.

Other petitions on which there was no remonstrance and which were taken under advisement by the commissioner were the following: Charles T. Kilpatrick et al, sewer extension of 150 feet in Maryland avenue; Chas. L. Sweetser et al, sewer in Ray court; Joseph M. Carroll et al, sewer in Madamock avenue; to drain premises No. 51; Earl Greenburg et al, sewer in Chelmsford street, from Cambridge street southward; Demetrios Demiankos, granolithic sidewalk in front of premises Nos. 62 and 66 Oorham street; William H. Your Parents and Grandparents as a rule, believed in doctoring with nature's remedy, the life giving extracts of leaves, roots and herbs, and you must admit that a very large majority of them lived to a ripe old age; the same treatment that kept them so well and vigorous will keep you the same.

SEVEN BARKS is made from the extracts of several different kinds of leaves, roots and herbs, and has for nearly 50 years been recognized as the most reliable remedy for correcting and preventing disturbances of the stomach, liver, kidneys and bowels. Get a stomach and bowels working right and most other ailments will vanish.

SEVEN BARKS restores a healthy, natural bowel action, in most cases it promotes appetite, and quickly puts the digestive organs in shape to assimilate food. It also acts on the liver and kidneys, failure of these to act properly allows the whole body to be poisoned, and brings about other complications.

The principal cause of backaches is the kidneys when they don't perform their duty, and if not flushed and the poisons thrown off, serious trouble will happen. SEVEN BARKS will not only relieve kidney troubles, but keeps your stomach in good condition and your liver active.

Ask your druggist for SEVEN BARKS. If he does not have it he will get it for you.—Adv.

ALBUQUERQUE, N. M., Sept. 20.—New Mexico voters go to the polls today to choose a United States senator to serve out the unexpired term of Albert B. Fall, who entered the cabinet of President Harding on March 4, as secretary of the interior. The successful candidate will serve until March 4, 1923.

Autumn Session of Ulster Parliament

BELFAST, Ireland, Sept. 20.—(By the Associated Press.)—The parliament of northern Ireland opened its autumn session here today with a full attendance of the Unionist members. Neither the Nationalists nor the Sinn Feiners, who hold a total of 12 seats, were in attendance. The session was held in the building which was formerly the Belfast college of the Presbyterian church. The main business of the day was a motion to approve the purchase of Stormont castle as the site of the new parliament buildings. A select committee also was named to consider the question of the remuneration of the cabinet ministers.

MUST BATHE
TWICE A WEEK

WASHINGTON, Sept. 20.—Everybody ought to be healthy. The Saturday scrubbing is not enough.

This went down in the government book as an official rule today, advocated by the United States bureau of education, which started a nationwide drive for healthier school children and teachers.

In addition to frequent bathing, the bureau declared that the teeth should be brushed at least once a day, that children should sleep long hours with windows open, that children should drink plenty of milk, but no coffee or tea and that they should play out of doors every day.

Further—and the prohibitionists will cheer this rule, which is set down for everybody—four glasses of water a day is a big benefit to health.

SPECULATION RAMPANT
IN SOVIET CAPITAL

MOSCOW, Sept. 20. (By the Associated Press.)—Speculation is rampant in the capital of Soviet Russia. Wall street, Threadneedle street, or any other financial district in the world has not half as many "speculating operators" as this ancient city of czar. The curbs are crowded each day with promoters trying to organize co-operative concerns from publishing an article to the construction of a new automobile factory, and the talk of money inside and outside the government has a capitalistic ring seldom heard in Russia before the soviet government decided it was unable to handle all business.

Markets are overcrowded with dealers, but buildings are standing idle because there is a lack of capital with which to pay the annual rentals, which must be met in advance. Newspapers are filled with suggestions for the assistance of co-operative associations, the Pravda publishing an article urging that the state bank be allowed to make loans to encourage trade and industry. Suggestion was made that interest from 10 to 12 per cent monthly could be charged.

Licenses for 577 shops and 5489 market stalls or street wagons have been issued in Moscow since the opening of free trade. The government levies a tax of 5 per cent in kind on concessionaires producing food stuffs; 8 per cent on chemical manufacturers and 10 per cent on metal working firms.

Twenty-six Moscow factories have been leased to private individuals out of 251 which the government has offered to concessionaires.

HAD VISIONS OF
PUMPKIN PIES

Delight visions of luscious pumpkin pies were forming in the minds of two local youngsters when suddenly shattered last night when police officers appeared on the Pawtucket boulevard and asked two boys who were dragging along two carts loaded with big yellow pumpkins, a few questions. Questions and answers resulted in the boys changing their course from one homeward bound to another leading to the Market street headquarters. There, in the corridor of the station, beside moonshine equipment recently seized in booze raids, repose about two dozen golden pumpkins which the police say belonged to Thomas Varnum until the two youngsters, determined to have a pumpkin feast, made a raid on his grounds. The boys will be arraigned in the juvenile court Friday.

Gyp's Going Back to Her English Home—Passage Has Been Arranged

MISS MAMIE POWERS, HER MOTHER AND GYP.

Gyp is going back to England. Though an ocean voyage means nothing to Gyp. She's quite blasé, worldly wise, as it were, so far as travels are concerned.

She's journeyed from England to Shetland, thence to Canada, eventually bringing up in Chicago. And the streets of the latter city she's mastered on her own. So Gyp faces the trip back to England with not a little unconcern.

Indeed, she forced the thing! She's had a way of doing that ever since she was born in a military camp at Shorncliffe, Kent, and came into the possession of a little English girl, Mamie Powers, and her mother.

She began by forcing a ride in a dignified English wash basket which a dignified English maid was carrying. Gyp's mother, who is a white looking mass moving in the yard below the second-story window from which she viewed the landscape. When it came into focus Gyp leaped and landed safely in the midst of the freshly laundered clothes, which the maid, whom Gyp knew, was carrying.

That's Gyp's way. But she's just as generous with her friendship as she expects other folk to be with hers.

The difficulty of arranging passage for Gyp had been so great that Miss Powers decided to find a home for her on this side.

But Gyp had plans of her own. She sought the first chance to escape and after traveling at least three miles over busy Chicago streets, she was found waiting one morning, footsore, but happy, at the door of the house where Miss Powers and her mother were stayers.

So passage is being arranged for Gyp.

Druggists Lose License

NEW YORK, Sept. 20.—At least 20,000 gallons of whiskey have been illegally withdrawn by distillers in various parts of the country as the result of the theft of permit blanks here, prohibition officers said today. The stolen blanks would have permitted withdrawal of about 100,000 cases, but all New York permits outstanding were cancelled upon discovery of the theft.

Premises for 14 wholesale druggists in this city to sell liquor have been revoked on suspicion that they are not legitimate druggists.

agent of the Lowell Humane society was notified by telephone by neighbors of the Larrabee people that Alvah Larrabee, aged 9 years, son of Harry J. Larrabee, was locked up in an attic closet of the Larrabee home and that the little fellow was pounding desperately on the walls of the closet. Mr. Lewis immediately got in touch with police officials and Lieutenants Palmer and Maher accompanied him to the Larrabee home. Upon breaking into the attic, the officers found a huddled down on the closet door and within the closet they found little Alvah. The little chap was taken to the home of a neighbor. He was later taken to the Chelmsford street hospital upon advice of City Physician M. A. Tighe.

The little chap, it is stated, declared when questioned that he had had nothing to eat for two or three days, and when freed from the lightless and practically airless closet, he was found practically dead. He was provided with water, but no food of any description.

The boy, through the activity of Agent Richardson of the Humane society, was brought before Judge Enright at the juvenile session of the district court a week ago last Friday as a "neglected child." At that time, a continuance was asked for as it was thought an uncle of the boy would adopt him.

Hugh A. Larrabee, who adopted the boy this morning, owns a large farm at Gaysville, Vt. He has no children and has a liking for the little fellow. His reputation, as far as the agent of the Humane society was able to find out from the town officials of Gaysville is excellent and Mr. Richardson feels that no better home could have been secured for Alvah, who seemed very much pleased after he was informed that he would board the next train for the Vermont town.

After the adoption papers had been signed by the court, Mr. and Mrs. Hugh A. Larrabee, who were present in court left the building on their way to the railroad station, taking along with them Alvah, who seemed to be the happiest boy in the world. The boy's father said "goodbye" when the lad was leaving the court room.

STRUCK BY AUTOMOBILE
Lillian Blaisdell, a little girl residing in the Westlands, Chelmsford, was struck by an automobile while playing in the road near her home yesterday and received painful injuries to her arm and body. It seems that the little girl was playing in the street with other children and paid no heed to the tooting of the automobile horn. The driver of the car, it is said, was operating his machine at a moderate speed at the time of the accident.

De Valera Note Conciliatory

of the Sinn Féin note of Sept. 12, in which the sovereignty of the Irish state was asserted, and which Mr. Lloyd George to cancel his invitation to a conference.

As viewed here the latest Irish note was conciliatory in character, and it seemed to place upon the prime minister the choice of holding a free conference or insisting that southern Ireland formally express its allegiance to the British crown. It was generally believed that the note sent to Mr. Lloyd George yesterday marked a step which would tend to relieve the situation of some of the tension which developed late last week and threatened to end, for a time at least, any hope of an early settlement.

The prime minister is rapidly recovering from the indisposition which confined him to his rooms at Gairloch, and it seemed probable today that before replying to Mr. De Valera, he would confer with several members of the cabinet who are in Scotland. It was reported that private telegrams had passed freely between Dublin and Gairloch, and that Mr. Lloyd George had kept in close touch with sentiment among the ministers who were in this city. He was said to be disposed to move slowly in dealing with the Irish situation.

Text of De Valera's Note
The text of Mr. De Valera's telegram sent to Lloyd George yesterday follows:
"Sir—We have had no thought at any time of asking you to accept any conditions precedent to a conference. We would have thought it as unreasonable to expect you as a preliminary to recognize the Irish republic formally or informally, as that you should expect us, formally or informally, to surrender our national position. It is precisely because neither side accepts the position of the other that there is a dispute at all and that a conference is necessary to search for and discuss such adjustments as might compose it. A treaty of accommodation and association, properly concluded between the people of these two islands and between Ireland and the group of states of the British commonwealth, would, we believe, end the dispute forever and enable the two nations to settle down in peace, each pursuing its own individual development and contributing its own quota to civilization, but working together in free and friendly co-operation in affairs of agreed common concern."

PLOT TO BLOW UP PRISON GATE

LEAVENWORTH, Kan., Sept. 20.—A plot to blow up a section of the main wall or the gate at the federal penitentiary has been frustrated. Warden W. L. Biddle and the prison officials announced yesterday. They said seven prisoners who were leaders in the plan had been placed in solitary confinement.

POPE BENEDICT SPEAKS

Addresses Members of Order of St. Francis—Says Society Affected With Discord

ROME, Sept. 20.—Society today is deeply affected with civil discord, due to excessive egotism and a refusal to acknowledge inevitable differences between social classes, said Pope Benedict yesterday during an address to members of the Order of St. Francis, gathered here in international congress. As a result, he added, treaties of peace were signed by nations, but they continued to engage in bloody conflicts.
Pope Benedict emphasized St. Francis' love of peace and concord, and said that only this spirit could heal present conditions. Nearly 3000 delegates to the congress were received by the pope, who addressed the assembly in the Court of Damazo in the Vatican.

LOSS $25,000

Fire Ruins Fair Ground Buildings at St. Johnsbury

ST. JOHNSBURY, Vt., Sept. 20.—In a spectacular fire which occurred shortly after noon yesterday at the Caladonia Fair grounds, the grandstand, judges' stand, bandstand, vaudeville stage and the 50 new horse stalls were totally destroyed.
In cleaning up the grounds after the big fair last week workers had, during the forenoon, been burning rubbish not far from the south end of the grandstand, and left the fire property extinguished as they supposed, upon going to dinner.

During their absence the wind, coming up, carried sparks to the horse stalls, and when discovered was beyond control, and soon the other buildings were in flames. With little water available the fire department and volunteers could not save the burning buildings but managed to keep those near from a similar fate.
The loss will exceed $25,000, it is estimated, and to offset this there was a total of only $2300 insurance, carried by the Vermont Mutual Insurance company upon the two larger structures.
Before the fire was entirely under control the flames spread in the dry grass south of the fair grounds property and endangered the electric light plant, but were soon extinguished.

JUDGE DISMISSES LENIENT JURY

BOSTON, Sept. 20.—When the jury sitting in Judge Christopher T. Callahan's session of the Suffolk superior court returned finding after finding of not guilty after little deliberation, the justice summarily dismissed them yesterday afternoon. Out of five cases the jury had already returned four verdicts of not guilty, and then on another case of larceny they returned the same verdict after they had discussed the case but six minutes.

Whereupon the justice, courteously but firmly dismissed them.

More than 21,000 employees of Swift & Company own or are paying for shares in the business. These men and women have attested their faith in the integrity and good will of the company by investing their savings in the business.

Their holdings represent a total of nearly 250,000 shares, the par value ($100 a share) of which is more than $24,500,000.

These 21,000 represent more than one-third of our average number of employees!

One man out of every three, in plant, office, and branch house, from the handworker on the floor to the brain worker at the desk; working with us as well as for us, devoting himself to his own business while devoting himself to ours; promoting his own interests in every motion or moment saved, in every product improved or maintained at perfection, in every service rendered through prompt, thorough, effective distribution of products.

This interested, eager group of fellow partners working with us for the good of Swift & Company and the public which we serve, constitutes one-half of the ownership of Swift & Company in point of numbers, and nearly one-sixth in point of shares outstanding.

Little Children Brighten Homes

EVERY young couple starting out in life has visions of joyful hours spent before the fireside with healthy, happy children; but, alas, how often young women who long for children are denied that happiness because of some functional derangement which may be corrected by proper treatment. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is just the medicine for these conditions, as the following letters show:

McDonald, Ohio.—"I suffered from a displacement, a weakness, and a great deal of pain. The doctor said nothing would help me but an operation. He said I could never have any children because I was too weak."

"I had often heard of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, so I tried it and it helped me. Now I am in the best of health, do all of my own work, and have a lovely boy six months old. I recommend your medicine to my friends and you have my permission to use this letter."

Mrs. J. C. BARNESON, 426 Garfield Ave., McDonald, Ohio.

Mesa, Colorado.—"Ever since I was a young girl I suffered from a great deal of pain every month. I tried different medicines, but only got relief for a short time. I had been married seven years, and wanted a child, but was not well enough. My mother advised me to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound as it had helped her, and I am happy to say it restored my health, my pains disappeared, and I have a fine little girl. I advise all women who suffer as I did to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound."

SPORTING NEWS AND NEWSY SPORTS

"Jawn" Gone—"Ee-yah" Now

"Mugsy" McGraw is no more. No more is the fielding practice of the Giants, evidenced by Johnson hitting a home run by his witty and sarcastic comments, which furnished joy and laughter to the stands.

No more are the base lines stirred by the coaching of "Mugsy." Empires take the field with no thought of a battle royal.

For "Mugsy" has become Mr. John J. McGraw, capitalist and magnate.

No more does he don his uniform, and lead his forces into battle.

His place on the coaching lines is taken by the irrepressible Hughie Jennings.

Grass grows once more in the American league ball parks, but that in the National league is becoming sad.

For Hughie has brought his famous grass-picking stunt with him. Daily his "Ee-yah" rings out for the delight of the fans of the circuit. Daily he is out there urging the Giants on to victory.

Hughie Jennings, shortstop of the New York Giants, is a very strong outfielder, and was greatly disappointed when he was appointed to the position of manager of the Boston Red Sox.

One still native in the game they both love, the other on the bench, watching.

Does Hughie envy "Jawn"? Does "Jawn" envy Hughie? We wonder!

TILDEN AGAIN NATIONAL TENNIS CHAMPION

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 20.—William T. Tilden, 2nd, of this city, is again national tennis champion. He won the 1921 title by defeating Wallace F. Johnson, also of this city, 6-1, 6-3, 6-1.

In the first round of the 40th annual championship singles tournament of the United States Tennis association, in what is said to be the record time of 22 minutes, Tilden rose to super heights in his play yesterday afternoon. The speed and accuracy of both his service and return strokes so dazzled and smothered Johnson that he was placed in such a defensive position that he never for a moment appeared to have even a fighting chance.

Tilden, who has two legs upon the court, racing him on a level with Maurice E. McLoughlin, who won in 1912 and 1913; R. Norris Williams, winner in 1914 and 1916, and William A. Larned and R. Lindley Murray have also won the cup once. The play dating back to 1911, when it was played in the city of New York.

It is doubtful if any tennis player in the modern history of the game could have hurled back Tilden yesterday afternoon. Certainly no such display of terrific service, driving and smashing has been seen in recent seasons. While Johnson's comparatively soft game may have paved the way for this display of cyclonic tennis, the accuracy with which Tilden directed and controlled his returns was little short of marvelous.

Against the bombardment of cannonball returns Johnson was almost helpless. Many of the shots tore past him with such speed that he could not get his racket on them; others were placed in inaccessible places, and he was forced to bound off the backcourt before Johnson reached the place where a little puff of dust marked the passage. In the first round of this overwhelming offense and annihilating accuracy, the under-py of chopped and unaccounted returns were futile. Johnson piled up an unusual number of such errors, and in the second round, in an attempt to return Tilden's drives, he was unable to keep the ball on his racket long enough to control the direction of his shots. While errors were committed by Johnson, the match was played under perfect weather conditions and was witnessed by more than 10,000 spectators.

Tilden's Great Record

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 20.—William T. Tilden, 2nd, established a remarkable record in the national singles tournament, which closed yesterday at the Germantown Cricket club, and in which he successfully defended his title. Out of during the tournament, he lost only one set—William M. Johnston of California, all his other matches being won in straight sets.

NEW RECORDS AT GRAND CIRCUIT MEETING

COLUMBUS, O., Sept. 20.—Grand circuit horse racing in plenty of record breaking at Syracuse last week, were at it again yesterday, when one season's trotting mark was made for a two-year-old and a three-year-old. The King stake, purse of $3000, was won by a bay filly by Etawah, won the 2-year-old trot in 2:05.4, and the 3-year-old trot in 2:08.4. Helen Dillon was the biggest favorite. The King stake had but three pacers score for the word, but Johnny Quirk's middle mile in 2:01.4 broke the record for this event, established by a year ago at 2:01.4 by Independence Boy. The first heat, Roy Grattan and Johnny Quirk, hesitating to be out in front before the stretch drive was started, then in the second heat and Valentine placed on the mount. Peter Darr won the 2:15 race by a wide margin. The race was won by Tony Mac, the favorite. Today's big program will be featured by the $10,000 M. & M. 2:14 trot.

$26,000 Stakes

COLUMBUS, O., Sept. 20.—The biggest program of the two weeks' racing at the fall grand circuit meeting will be offered today when $26,000 will be disbursed in the four events.

MIKE GIBBONS CANCELS HOLTS

COLORADO SPRINGS, Colo., Sept. 20.—Mike Gibbons, the Paul M. McGraw, will be unable to box for at least 15 days because of an injury to his right hand received in the seventh and final round of his bout with Battling Ortega here last Friday.

Gibbons' next appearance probably will be at Wichita, Kan., on Oct. 15, when he is scheduled to meet Mike O'Dowd in a 15-round bout. Seven intervening fights have been cancelled.

K. OF C. TEAM SIGNS TWO NEW PLAYERS

Manager John Coughlin of the Lowell Knights of Columbus ball team announced today that he has signed two new players, one of the leading catchers and batters in the Twilight league and Mark Devlin of Lawrence, former captain of the Holy Cross baseball team, to appear in his line-up against the Boston Post Office team at Spaulding park next Saturday afternoon.

The game with the Boston letter carriers was originally scheduled for last Saturday, but was called off on account of weather conditions. The Boston team came to town and was greatly disappointed when they were appointed to the position of manager of the Lowell team.

The manager, asked Manager Coughlin to make it next Saturday and the local manager agreed.

The Boston team is a very strong outfit, having just recently secured the services of seven members of the Boston Post Office team, and will pitch for Boston and Davidson for Lowell.

DUNDEE WINNER OVER JOE TIPLITZ

BOSTON, Sept. 20.—Johnny Dundee of New York was awarded the decision over Joe Tiplitz of Philadelphia in a 10-round bout at the Fenway A. A. show in the Arena last night.

About 5000 fans saw the bout, and they saw a lot of good action. The bout was a real war, and the crowd was kept on its feet by the exciting action.

Frankie Conway of Philadelphia and Freddie Madden of East Boston created a lot of excitement in the crowd. They were the main attraction of the night.

Madden was given the award at the end of the first round, but Conway was entitled to it by good margin.

Tiplitz gave Dundee a good battle and in the fourth round he nearly put him to the floor with a left hook to the jaw. Throughout the 10 rounds both fighters used their left hands most of the time. Dundee showed that he was a better long range fighter than Tiplitz, at times landing with lightning speed.

Tiplitz did the greater part of his punching at close quarters.

BIG CRICKET GAME All-Canada and All-Philadelphia Teams Meet

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 20.—An All-Canada and an All-Philadelphia cricket team were matched today in the 4th annual contest between Canada and the United States. The Canadians, selected from the best colleges and club elevens of the eastern part of the Dominion, played today and tomorrow at the Philadelphia Cricket club against a team with virtually the same lineup as that which toured England recently. Of the 41 previous matches between the two countries the United States has won 15, Canada 14 and three were drawn. The first was played in New York in 1911 and was won by Canada.

BOXER DIES AFTER BOUT AT BANGOR, ME.

BANGOR, Me., Sept. 20.—Edward Francis Prout, 25 years old of Bangor, died yesterday morning in a boxing bout in Bangor last night.

He was in the semi-final in a show at the Bowdoin ring with Frank Langley of Philadelphia. Both men weighed in at about 140 pounds. The fight was near the end of the fourth round when the accident occurred. Both men had been fighting savagely, and both had gone down or part of the count several times. Prout was sent backwards by a blow to the jaw and collapsed. The Philadelphia fighter, heavily to the floor and cutting a gash in his head. He was dead when picked up.

Prout was a sophomore at the University of Maine, taking electrical engineering. Physicians examined both fighters before the bout and pronounced them in good condition. The cause of the fatal injury has not been determined but it is believed to have been due to heart disease or exhaustion rather than to the blow.

An investigation by the police is pending.

HARDING MEMBER OF HOLLYWOOD CLUB

DEAL, N. J., Sept. 20.—President Calvin Coolidge has been elected a member of the Hollywood Golf club here.

In a letter to President Harry Conant of the club, recently received, he said he had the good fortune to exercise the privileges of honorary membership.

He held the ball aloft, like this. To kick it over there. But every time, he'd miss the ball. And all he'd kick was air.

What Would Happen If "Big Six" Stepped Into a World Series Today Against the Fence Busters

That's a total for three games of no runs, 11 hits, 15 strikeouts and one pass.

Compare that with "Iron Man" Coveleske's record with the Brooklyn Dodgers when the Polo worked in three of the seven games.

In the first game Covey gave one run, allowed five hits, struck out three men and walked one. In the third game he allowed one run, five hits, fanned four men and walked one. In the seventh game he shut out Brooklyn, allowed five hits, struck out one man and walked none.

His record for three games: 2 runs, 11 hits, 15 strikeouts and 2 walks. And Coveleske's record stands high among the moderns.

What would happen were Matly as he was in his heyday to face the Bambino, the Measles or the other members of the homerun clan?

Mathewson has appeared in more World Series games than any other pitcher. He has made 11 starts, winning five of his games and dropping four. Chief Bender of the other eleven had a better series record than "Big Six," having won six and dropped four in 10 starts, while Jack Coombs, also of the Athletics, took part in six games, winning five and dropping none, and thereby topping all hurlers who have shown their wares in the big muck.

The lively ball that has kept the outfielders hopping all through the summer precludes the possibility of any of the 1921 hurlers accomplishing the seemingly impossible task of pitching a World Series no-hit game, the right ambition of them all.

Reusch, pitching for the Cubs in the Cub-White Sox series in 1906, came the nearest to accomplishing the impossible when in the second game he let the Sox down with one hit, a single by Donohue.

Four series pitchers have kept opponents to two hits: Walsh against the Cubs in 1906, Brown against the White Sox in the same series, Eddie Plank against the Giants in 1913 and James against the Athletics a year later.

Sherrerd Smith of Brooklyn and Walter Mills of Cleveland allowed only three hits apiece in the 1920 series. Probably the best exhibition of World Series pitching ever staged was the sixth game of the Giant-Athletic series in 1911. While Chief Bender was pitching wonderful ball, and holding the New York team to four hits, the Giant hurling squad slivered. Ames started it when he made a wild throw to the bases, full of force. Wiltsie and Marquard were in quick succession, but the damage was done. Philadelphia rapped out 13 runs on 17 bases, and in six innings had piled up 13 runs.

WHEN BABE SKIDDED RECORD BUSTER JACK LELIVELT

Story of Home Run King's Famous Mud-Bath In Springfield

This is a one-act comedy, called "The Time Babe Ruth Fell in the Mud." Time, 1919. Place—Eastern League park, Springfield. Cast of Characters—Babe Ruth, the slugging Bambino. Extras—17 other players from little and big diamonds.

The exploits of Babe Ruth, that battering, bustling Bambino who has put such heroes as Napoleon, Achilles, Henry Ford and Dr. Cook way back in the shade, are many. But the time Babe took his famous mud bath is known to but a few.

Shortly after George Herman Ruth had set the sporting world afire and flummied his way into the family circles of even the sons of this land by lashing out more home runs in one season than in his big league hitting make in a lifetime, he went to Springfield on a barnstorming trip.

The day was lovely. It had rained the night before. Pools of water had collected all over the field. Back of first base was a puddle, the envy of many a desert duck.

Babe first caught, then pitched and finally ended up by playing first base. With the young lake right in his back yard, so to speak, Babe should have known better and sidestepped what was to follow.

The busters opposing Babe's team were making the close. A defeat by his team would not jibe with Babe's great record. Along about the seventh inning Babe topped a ball down to the shortstop. The hit was a pretty deep one. Babe had a chance of beating the throw.

He set full sail for first base, even hoisting his balloon sail to make the journey. One of his huge dogs, which Babe formerly refers to as feet, struck the bag ahead of the ball. Babe applied the airbrake but he couldn't stop so great was his hurry.

Over the base he tore and into the mud. Although Babe's eyes can pierce the wickedest curve, they were not sharp enough to pick out a small stone in the pond.

His spits struck the stone, Babe skidded and dove headfirst into the slime and water of League park.

A mass is the only word at hand to describe Babe's appearance. He plastered with mud from head to foot. "My diving and bathing suit," quoth Babe. "We'll win with this dirty run."

And at that his run proved to be the deciding factor of the game.

Monty Springfield to Babe now and he'll say: "It's got Hot Springs and Mount Clemens beat a mile for mud baths. You get 'em there unsold."

AMATEUR BASEBALL

The Young Men's League again defeated the Trojans of Centralville Sunday by a score of 11-2.

Pitcher Shanahan with the timely help of the batters kept the Trojans from scoring in the first of the fifth inning passed three men, filling the bases then came a fly to Richardson, who miscalculated and let the Trojans score.

With the lineup that played yesterday Manager Gauthier is confident of winning any team between the ages of 11 and 15.

For games call 6242-R or write Y.M.C.A. No. 13 Warren street.

If the White Sox want a game for next Sunday on the North common they must make arrangements before Friday night.

Nine men will be chosen from the following to oppose the White Sox: Shanahan, Stearns, Finn, Fitzgerald, Burke, M. Burke, P. Gaudier, Furey, Sutherland, Salois, Clark, Ryan and Sutherland.

The Lowell Newboys would like to play the Tigers, Franklin A.C. Pirates, Winter A.C., the Nationals, or any other 12 to 15 year old team in the city. For games answer through this paper or see Manager John Tenzel between 6 and 8 o'clock. The corner of Howe street any night this week.

The Dracut All-Stars defeated the National A.C.'s in a 10-inning game by the score of 11-9.

BUFF AND HERMAN READY FOR BOUT

NEW YORK, Sept. 20.—Pete Herman, bantamweight boxing champion, and Johnny Buff, the flyweight titleholder, who aspires to the New Orleans boy's crown, are putting the finishing touches on their training for a meeting Friday night.

In Buff, Herman will meet one of the hardest hitting men among the midges. Johnny is practicing his knockout punches every day in Jersey City and Herman is developing his blows in Manhattan.

The New Orleans boxer has met only one real contender since he won back his title from Joe Lynch. Herman recently was credited with a point victory over Charley Ledoux, the French bantamweight champion. Buff also has a decision over Ledoux, but it was won by a shade.

MID-WEST FOOTBALL LEAGUE

CHICAGO, Sept. 20.—Sixty-one football teams of Illinois, Wisconsin, Indiana and Michigan are now members of the Mid-West Football league. It was announced at a meeting here last night by President Charles Levine. Because of this interstate nature of the league the old name of the league, "Chicago Football League," was abandoned and the new name chosen.

On the Other Hand

BY GROVE

So many fellows in the game are always harpin' about what they could do if they had this or if they had that. If a fellow really has the stuff, he doesn't have to worry about the surroundings.

"Red" Faber, of the White Sox, is a pitching ace in a seventh place club.

Yellowness in a fighter makes the fans who squander their long green see red. But the "blues" are tickled pink.

"The 'aves' have it," said the feather-champ as he uncorked a couple fast jobs.

It's an eat famine in Russia; a seat famine in Pennsylvania.

EMIPHAT

Under these stones
There lie the bones
Of a crazy galeot who tried fasting.
He swore he'd not stop
Till Mack's team would cop—
And that's why his wait was so lasting.

One reason Babe Ruth has endeared himself in the hearts of Young America is that he provides free transportation into the parks for a lot of young fellows.

Reports say the Kaiser has left Doorn. Comin' over to the series, maybe, to take lessons from some real strategists.

DIFFERENT

Miss Cecil Leitch, British woman golfer in her exhibition matches in Canada, preliminary to her match with Miss Alexa Sterling, America's woman champion.

Miss Leitch, with long American hair, will be prepared to meet Miss Sterling.

But Suzanne Lenglen, oh, that's different! She was expected to jump right onto the docks, after a sea voyage and play championship tennis against a champion.

And folks stood around awestruck and wondered why they didn't see phenomenal tennis.

There'll probably be a lot of crowing now. Pete Herman and Johnny Buff fight in Gotham Sept. 23 for the bantam title.

There will be good world series practice for someone in the Indian. Yankee series that begins in New York Sept. 23.

REWARD

Bill Killefer is going to manage the Chicago Cubs again next season. When 1922 was revised of the Cub management August 4 and Killefer was placed in charge, the team perked up in spirit, dissension was forgotten and everyone scrapped hard for the team.

Men like this make the game worth while.

Cleveland has one in Tris Speaker. Detroit has one in Ty Cobb.

She brushed her lips a reddish hue. The pluck she ate then turned them blue—
RAZZBERRY!

Johnny Wilson: Didja notice the clipping about a boxer, out in Kansas City, who died from over-exercising?

Johnny Wilson said he got rapped on the chin and was dazed for five rounds. Where was he the other seven?

STARS TO STAGE BENEFIT

The first big movement to provide complete athletic equipment for the American boy and the development of playgrounds, will be undertaken when stars of the National and American League teams play an exhibition game at League park, Cleveland, on Sept. 28.

The owners and managers are providing such stars as: Sisler, Babe Ruth, Cobb and Nick Altrock of the American League and Alexander, Groh, Babe Adams, Nehf and Kelly of the Nationals.

Boys will be encouraged to organize ball teams in all towns and after being signed up and approved by the All Star Service League the teams will be given all equipment free of charge.

Indians Again Lead As Tigers Rout New York Yankees

NEW YORK, Sept. 20.—First place in the American league appears to be as difficult to hold as a greased pig. It has changed frequently in the last few days, but today the Cleveland Indians occupied it by a scant two point margin over New York.

The world's champions, though idle yesterday, took possession of the coveted berth when Detroit defeated New York in a game in which seven pitchers were used—four by the loser and three by the winners. The Tigers scored eight runs in the eighth inning. Pitcher Elmke was credited with the victory and the defeat was marked against Shawkey.

Three and a half games was the margin by which the New York Nationals topped Pittsburgh today, despite the leaders' defeat by the runners up yesterday.

Left Fielder Williams of the St. Louis Browns hit his 24th home run of the season, which won the game from the Philadelphia Athletics in the ninth inning. Schang of the Yankees was the only other major league player to make a home run.

Four hits, one a double and another a triple, in five times at bat, was the day's work performed by Third Baseman Boeckel of the Boston Braves. The St. Louis Cardinals made it four straight victories over the Phillies by winning with Pitcher Haines in the box.

$50,000 LOSS Two Alarm Fire Ties Up Traffic in Boston

BOSTON, Sept. 20.—Outbound and inbound cars to and from South Station and Cambridge and all elevated trains in and out of the North station were tied up for 25 minutes yesterday afternoon, because of a two-alarm fire which started on the top floor of the five-story brick building at 117 Causeway street at 2:53. More than 60 persons who were in the burning structure and nearby buildings were forced to leave as a result of the thick, black smoke which poured forth. Chief Peter Walsh of the fire department estimated the damage at more than $50,000.

Box 1313 was sounded several minutes before 3 o'clock. Deputy Chief Fox, who arrived on the scene first, ordered a second alarm sent in immediately. The flames had good headway before the apparatus arrived and it was nearly three-quarters of an hour before the fire was under control. It was more than an hour and 40 minutes later that the all-out was sounded.

LOPPY EXPLAINS

"GOODNESS" GASPED NANCY WHEN LOPPY'S VOICE CAME FROM THE ROCK.

"Goodness" gasped Nancy when Lopsy Lobster's voice came out of the big gray rock beside them. "Who thought you were looking at us from your house in the sea-weed. Who was it then?"

Lopsy was quiet a minute and then the twins heard a chuckle. "What did the person look like?" he asked. "Was he green and very handsome?" "He was green all right," said Nick. "But not very—not very—no." "Handsome?" Lopsy helped him out. "Why don't you say it? Well, handsome is as handsome does, you know, besides, I'm not sensitive. Another besides—why should I care. If you didn't somebody else isn't handsome?" Nick was just about to say that he supposed all lobsters looked alike, when he remembered his errand. "I can't waste no much time talking," said he suddenly. "Cap'n Penny-

INDIAN WEATHER WIZARD SAYS "HEAP RAIN"

SEATTLE, Wash., Sept. 16.—"Pit-chuk Julia," the noted, prophetic Indian who forecast the "two squaws snow" in the northwest five years ago; this fall is predicting a four squaws rain for the Pacific coast.

The "two squaws snow" turned out to be the heaviest rain-blizzard the northwest had seen in many years. It blizzarded street cars and crushed in roofs, including the dome of a great cathedral.

The evening of the day she predicted the "four squaws rain," a few days ago, Seattle was visited by the heaviest drenching of the season. A torrential storm flooded the streets. Old timers have predicted an unusually cold winter for 1921-22. "Pit-chuk Julia" says, "Not so cold, but drip-drip-drip. Heap much rain—four squaws rain—one squaw snow—drip-drip-drip."

THE IN COMMON STREET
A defective kerosene stove started a fire that caused about $50 damage in the kitchen of the home occupied by Nicholas D. Saxones, 95 Common street, shortly before 6 o'clock last evening. The blaze was confined to the corner occupied by the stove and was extinguished in short order by the fire department.

USE OF MAIL BOXES
Mail boxes at the local postoffice must only be used by the person or business house authorized to do so, according to a statement made by Superintendent of Mails Joseph F. Meahan today. It is said that persons holding a key to a box after other parties presumably friends, to direct their mail to that box, thereby causing much confusion and disobeying a strict rule of the postoffice department.

IN THE DISTRICT COURT

Assault and Battery—Unlawful Possession of Milk Bottles—Other Cases

Demetrius Antonian was before Judge Enright in the district court today and was fined $25, which he paid, for assault and battery on Markon Gelardarin on the night of September 11. According to the testimony it was brought out that Demetrius was a boarder at the home of Gelardarin for about six months and had not paid for his keep saying that he was not working. Antonian also charged that Gelardarin owed him $90 which he refused to pay him, although he constantly kept asking him for it. Early this month, Demetrius left the Gelardarin household. It was stated, On the night of September 11 he met Markon on the street, he told the court, and asked him to make him some payment for settlement of the debt he owed him. He stated Gelardarin struck him besides refusing to pay him any money. He acted in self defense, he claimed. The plaintiff in his story to the judge stated that no argument preceded the assault, Antonian merely striking him on the face, knocking him down and kicking him in the legs and ribs. He required medical aid, he said.

Alfred Court, charged with assault and battery, was ordered to come to court tomorrow for trial and the case of David Stahl, also charged with assault and battery was continued to September 25.

John G. Conroy was before the court charged with unlawfully possessing registered milk bottles. His case was filed, although he was asked to pay costs. It was stated that he used bottles registered under another company's name. Counsel for the defendant told the court Conroy was new in the business and if given a chance promised to adhere to this rule strictly.

The case of William O'Loughlin, long on the court calendar, charged with larceny, was again postponed to September 22. Joseph Tallier pleaded not guilty to the non-support of his wife and two children and after hearing the story the court ordered the case put over to Saturday. Tallier stated her husband gave her about $10 or $12 a week, not steadily, however, and that she could not find that sufficient in which to provide for herself and children properly.

She also charged her husband with spending some of the money he earned for liquor. When the court reprimanded him for wanting the money he owed his family on drink and asked him why he didn't stop it, Tallier, through an interpreter replied that "his wife drove him to it."

A reaffirmation of the $150 fine imposed on James Giannopoulos by Judge Plekman last Saturday for unlawfully keeping liquor was made by Judge Enright this morning. The defendant had been allowed until yesterday in which to pay his assessment but failed to appear in court. He was declared defaulted and was brought to court today. He appeared from a fine and was ordered held on $300 bail for the superior court.

A larceny charge against Linwood D. Foster, an old case, was put over to next Saturday.

John Kerrigan, charged with drunkenness, who was in the auto truck towed by another vehicle which smashed into a tree on Westford street yesterday afternoon, came in for a severe reprimand by the court, after which his case was filed. Judge Enright told him to consider himself lucky in view of the fact that legally he could not be held for operating while under the influence of liquor as he was being towed by another machine.

William R. O'Brien appealed a two months sentence to the house of correction for drunkenness. This was his third offense and the second appeal he has now before the superior court for the same charge.

It cost Thomas Lyden $10 to get drunk last night, it being his third offense.

Electric Light company office yesterday afternoon. At the request of counsel, the case was put over to September 30, bail being set at $1000.

Fin, who had a set of number plates concealed between the back of his shirt and coat, besides a large bunch of keys in his possession when taken to the station, was arrested at East Chelmsford at 2 o'clock yesterday afternoon by Officer Small. After he had climbed with a refuse wagon and pitched the automobile through a fence, narrowly averting squarely striking a telegraph pole.

He had taken the auto from a position nearly across the street from the police station about a half-hour before Mr. Fin immediately reporting the larceny to the police. The car, badly smashed, was returned to the owner.

This morning, police officers investigating the man's identity and according to a room he is alleged to have been occupying on Market street, where they found about a dozen suitcases and second hand coats, collars, ties and other small wearing effects. The police are of the opinion the greater part of this is stolen material.

Several of the suits evidently came from a repair shop as they are unfinished, the buttons still showing in the cloth.

The suits have various trade marks and several show the name of Boston clothing houses. A brown suit had bore the name of a Lowell concern. A representative of the firm, summoned by the police, identified the suit, but stated it had evidently been purchased.

NO MORE ROOM AT VOCATIONAL SCHOOL

One hundred Lowell boys and girls who are eager to take up some line of industrial education and the doors of the Lowell Vocational school absolutely barred to them simply because of lack of room.

According to Principal Thomas P. Fisher head of the school, there are now 70 boys and 30 girls on his waiting list, seeking admission to the school and waiting until the municipal authorities can devise some ways or means to provide additional space.

"We are crammed to the limit," said Mr. Fisher this noon, "and I don't know what we can do about it. We haven't an inch of space around the boys' school to put up even a portable building and it looks as though the city might have to erect a houseboat on one of the neighboring canals to accommodate us. Not only are we short of room but we need additional teachers as well."

It will be remembered that it was less than a year ago that the students at the Boys' Vocational school moved into a spacious addition erected by the city, but now every inch of space in that building is being utilized, so rapidly have the classes grown. There are 212 boys at the school now and 145 girls at the Girls' Vocational school in Common street. Mr. Fisher has been forced to limit incoming students to graduates of technical schools. The crowded conditions at the school have been reported to Supt. Hugh J. Molloy and will probably come before the school board for consideration at its meeting a week from tonight.

logged assault and larceny. Almeida spoke so rapidly and confusingly, answering questions of lawyers for both sides before they were actually asked, that it required judge and court officers to quiet the court room several times following laughter, that could not be restrained by anybody watching and listening to the plaintiff on the witness stand.

A funny situation was reached when Almeida tried to show the court and lawyers a certain "fat man" who he said was in the room and whom he accused of helping conduct a personal search that Santos and his friends made on him, thereby "lifting" the $3 note. When the method of pointing to this "fat man" referred to apparently failed, Almeida having aimed his finger at a score of "fat men" who were present in the room, the court ordered him to descend from the stand.

Almeida also proved of the comical variety and afforded the lawyers, officers and spectators a good laugh.

Santos on the stand stated that he asked Almeida to pay him a dollar and a half he owed him, but that in reply to his request he was shown an open knife clenched in the plaintiff's right hand and told: "If you pay with this!" Here, the defendant admitted striking Almeida to protect himself from being cut by the knife. He denied putting his hands in Almeida's pockets and with stealing $5 from him. Several witnesses corroborated the story told by Santos.
